India demolish Af by 66 runs, stay in competition

ABU DHABI: A formidable India led by their strong openers Rohit Sharma and KL Rahul finally put up a commendable performance to annihilate a hapless Afghanistan by 66 runs to stay afloat in the ICC T20 World Cup here on Wednesday. It could well be a case of joining the party two games too late, but a solid batting show to first score 210 for 2 and then bowl the disciplined lines to restrict Afghanistan to 144 for 7 kept fans interested | P19

PAK DISALLOWS USE OF ITS SKIES FOR SRINAGAR-SHARJAH FLIGHTS

Pakistan has denied access to its airspace for Go First's direct flight inaugurated by Home Minister Amit Shah on October 23

DIRECT FLIGHT NOW TAKES AN EXTRA HOUR

According to officials, the flight was going through Pakistan airspace till October 31. However, Pakistan on Tuesday did not allow the flight to pass through its airspace. Flight tracking websites showed the flight now taking a longer route to avoid Pak skies. The flight will be about an hour longer as planes will now have to fly via Udaipur, Ahmedabad and Oman

NOT THE FIRST TIME PAK DENIED NOD

- Calling the move "very unfortunate", former J&K chief minister Omar Abdullah tweeted, "Pakistan did the same this with the Air India Express flight from Srinagar to Dubai in 2009-2010."
- PDP president Mehbooba Mufi slammed the Centre saying the inauguration was a 'PR extravaganza without any groundwork'

Petrol price cut by ₹12, diesel by ₹17 in K'taka

Bommai adds ₹7 to ₹5 and ₹10 reduction announced by Union govt

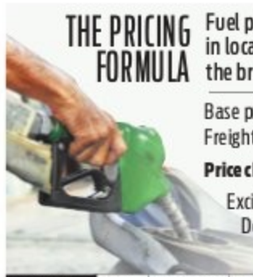
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITHIN a few hours of the Union government reducing the prices of petrol and diesel by Rs 5 and Rs 10 per litre respectively, Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai announced that Karnataka will reduce the prices of both fuels by another Rs 7. With this, the price of petrol is expected to be Rs 95.5 and diesel Rs 81.5 per litre in Karnataka.

This will lead to a revenue loss of Rs 2,100 crore to the state government.

Bommai stated that the new prices will come into effect from Thursday evening. "This will be the Deepawali gift from state and union governments," he tweeted.

The prices of petrol and diesel crossed Rs 100 a few weeks ago. The Opposition Congress had taken up the issue and protested both inside and outside Vidhana Soudha. Leader of opposition Siddaramaiah and KPCC president DK Shivakumar had even mocked the government by riding a bullock cart to Vidhana Soudha during the legislature session.



THE PRICING FORMULA

Fuel prices vary from state to state due to the difference in local tax structure like VAT and freight charges. Here's the break-up of the petrol price for Delhi (as on Nov 1)

(Figures in Rs / litre)

Base price	47.28
Freight charges	00.30
Price charged to dealers	47.58
Excise duty	32.90
Dealer commission (average)	3.90
VAT	25.31
RETAIL PRICE	₹109.69

DIESEL RATE	City	Jan 1, 2021	Nov 3	Nov 4 (Expected)
	Delhi	₹73.87	₹98.42	₹85.42*

* Duty cut of ₹10 translates into net drop of around ₹13 as VAT is tied to central levy

FUEL PRICES EASED BY A TAD AS GOVT CUTS DUTY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ New Delhi

IN a move dubbed as a Diwali gift to the common man, the Centre on Wednesday announced a cut in the excise duty on petrol by ₹5 and diesel by ₹10 with effect from Thursday. While the Centre said the decision will offer relief to consumers and spur the overall economic cycle, sources said it will set the exchequer back by ₹30,000 crore this fiscal.

"All sectors of the economy – be it manufacturing, services or agriculture – are experiencing significant upward economic activity. To give a further fillip to the economy, the Government of India has decided to significantly reduce the excise duty on diesel and petrol," the finance ministry said.

The government highlighted that the reduction in excise duty on diesel is double that of petrol, keeping in mind the interest of farmers. P11

Covaxin finally gets WHO's approval

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

THE World Health Organisation on Wednesday granted global emergency use listing (EUL) to Bharat Biotech's Covid vaccine Covaxin following months of detailed scrutiny of data from its clinical trials and vaccine development process.

It came as a Diwali gift to millions of the Covaxin recipients, whose international travel plans were held up for want of WHO's stamp. WHO's approval allows countries to expedite their own regulatory approval for import.

WHO said its technical advisory group that comprises experts from around the world, found that Covaxin meets the standards of the world body, adding its benefit far outweighs risks. Covaxin was also reviewed by WHO's strategic advisory group of experts on immunisation, which formulates vaccine specific policies. It recommended Covaxin's use in two doses, with a interval of four weeks, in 18-plus age groups.

The vaccine showed 78% efficacy against Covid of any severity, 14 or more days after the second dose, and is extremely suitable for low- and middle-income countries due to easy storage requirements, said the UN health agency. It, however, added that data on vaccination of pregnant women with the Covaxin was insufficient to assess its safety or efficacy in pregnancy. Studies in pregnant women are planned, including a pregnancy sub-study and a pregnancy registry.

State gets GST share of ₹1,602 cr from Centre

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THERE is good news on the GST front for the state this Diwali season as a GST loan of ₹1,602.61 crore was released as GST compensation on Wednesday. The Centre released ₹60,000 crore to 31 states, including Karnataka, and Union territories. While the largest allocation of ₹3,053 crore went to Maharashtra, Karnataka stood second in the list. Gujarat and UP were given ₹1,400 crore each, while Tamil Nadu received ₹1,314 crore.

The GST Council has released a loan of ₹1.59 lakh crore to states to deal with the shortfall in GST collection during the current financial year and this is in proportion to the overall loss of revenues and a previously agreed upon formula. The loan amount will be adjusted with the compensation later, said an official source in the government requesting anonymity.

Karnataka's GST collection of ₹8,259 crore in October is an 18 per cent jump over the same period last year, indicating an economic recovery. P6

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

FORMER India captain Rahul Dravid was appointed as the coach of the Indian team on Wednesday. The man from Bengaluru is no stranger to coaching after having done a wonderful job with the India A and the Under-19 teams. He has also been involved with IPL teams like Delhi Capitals and Rajasthan Royals.

Dravid will replace Ravi Shastri, whose tenure ends after the T20 World Cup. He will take charge with the home series against New Zealand later this month.

"The BCCI welcomes Rahul Dravid as the Head Coach of India's senior men's team. Rahul has had an illustrious playing career and is one of the greats of the game. He has also served Indian cricket as Head of National Cricket Academy with distinction... I am hopeful that his new stint will take Indian cricket to new heights," BCCI president Sourav Ganguly said in a statement. P19

AROUND 200 children, including those aged below one year, have taken ill after drinking contaminated water at an apartment complex in Yamlur. The residents of Prestige Kew Gardens apartment complex demanded that the builder -- Prestige Group -- address their grievances immediately.

Resident welfare associations around Bellandur and Varthur lakes said the problem of groundwater contamination is a worry at many apartment complexes in the vicinity.

Manish Singh, a resident of Prestige Kew, said the issue first came to light on October 22 when around 100 children and adults fell ill, complaining of bad stomach and uneasiness. By October 23, it increased to 200, and they are all still ailing.

"We get water from tankers and we have four borewells in the complex. We also depend a little on Cauvery water. Since most residents started falling ill, the builder was informed and water samples were collected. The builder did not share the findings initially. After persuasion, they revealed that there was no contamination at source. When we got the samples tested ourselves at private labs, we learned there is a high presence of e-coli and b-coli," he said.

In all, 300 residents are ill at the complex that has 950 flats. They have stopped using tanker and borewell water, and are purchasing canned water for consumption. Dr Subrata Das, Senior Consultant - Internal Medicine & Diabetology, Sakra World Hospital, said they have been seeing cases of stomach upset, vomiting and other health issues over the last 15 days among patients aged 20-50 years and even children.

Prestige Group told the residents on Wednesday that the contamination is because STP water got mixed with drinking water after heavy rain, said Sai Krishnan, another resident.

Yaseen, water management head with Prestige, said the problem started because of the heavy rainfall on October 23. Water samples were tested, and the technical team cleaned the tank and chlorinated the water.

KSPCB Member Secretary Srinivasalu and BBMP Mahadevapura Zone health officials said immediate action will be taken. BWSSB Chief Engineer Venkatesh said there is no problem with Cauvery water. It is learnt that water from all sources is being stored in one tank. Samples will be tested and action will be taken, he added.

Deepavali gift! Cooking oil prices down too

DONNA EVA @ Bengaluru

IT'S a season of good tidings: Apart from the cut in fuel prices, cooking oil rates are expected to drop, with manufacturers in Karnataka agreeing to cut rates. Rising oil prices were putting a strain on individuals and businesses, especially during the festival season.

BV Mehta, executive director, Solvent Extractors' Association of India (SEAI), said a few member-manufacturers have agreed to cut prices. The association has numerous members in Karnataka, like ITC, MK Agrotech and Namratha Oil Refineries.

SEAI had put out an appeal to all its members to lower edible oil prices. A vast majority of members, who constitute major players in the oil industry, responded positively.

The association requested member-manufacturers to lower prices by Rs 3 to Rs 5 per litre; but the latter responded by cutting prices by Rs 4 to Rs 7 per litre all over India. The effort was meant to help consumers during Diwali amid rise in prices across the board.

Earlier in October, the government had cut multiple tariffs on various cooking oils being imported. As of now, India imports around 65 per cent of edible oil. Prices had risen due to a number of factors like labour shortage and oil being used for different purposes.

An adviser from Kanti Sweets said, "We use groundnut oil for all our savoury products. Prices shot up around Raksha Bandhan and stayed stagnant since then. Prices were at an all-time high through Dasara as well."

Pothole plight: Palike blames lack of coordination

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A series of deadlines to fill up Bengaluru's infamous potholes -- set by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Revenue Minister R Ashoka and BBMP itself -- have fallen by the wayside. City roads continue to resemble those in a war zone -- potholed, dusty and full of rubble.

The BBMP, which was waiting for the heavy showers of October to subside, is left with no excuse as a week of dry weather has gone by and there is no sign of road-laying being taken up. The civic body had assured residents at multiple resident welfare meetings that the potholes would be filled once rain recedes.

Now, the corporation has come up with another excuse to buy time -- lack of coordination with other agencies.

A senior BBMP official told TNIE: "It is very embarrassing for us to face the people because the fault lies with the engineers. But the problem is coordination. Most of the major high-density roads are with KRDCL, and work is being delayed. We inform citizens but they are not convinced."

Citizens are questioning what happened at various coordination committee meetings and those with the chief secretary. "Why are we paying taxes to the BMBP when the government is not repairing roads? Earlier, officials had cited lack of funds, later they said rain issues, and now they say coordination," said an agitated Ramanna, a resident of Koramangala. With the corporation focused on patchwork on city roads, it has completely ignored the 110 villages which were added to BBMP limits, and where roads are even worse. Officials now claim that BWSSB is yet to complete the exercise of laying water pipelines, only after which work can be taken up. But residents of these villages say that not all roads need to be dug up simultaneously and left unattended. Even the main roads are not tarred.

BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta said around 12 major roads are with KRDCL, and BWSSB work is going on in these villages. Directions have been given to repair roads at the earliest.

KR Puram residents term BBMP meet hogwash

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

AN interactive meet held by BBMP officials over Zoom, with the residents of Mahadevapura and KR Puram Assembly constituencies on Tuesday evening, stirred a controversy, as the latter did not get a chance to air their grievances. Mincing no words, the resident welfare associations from KR Puram billed the meet "a hogwash" and saw it as an insult.

Around 150 people took part in the meet, which also had BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta, Mahadevapura MLA Aravind Limbavalli, Joint Commissioner R Venkatachalapathy and Chief Engineer Parameshwariah in attendance.

KR Puram MLA Byrathi Basavaraj was not present and claimed to TNIE that he was not invited and had no idea about such a meeting.

Trinity Enclave Residents Association president Kochu Shankar pointed out that KR Puram struggled with basic issues like lack of roads, water or drains, and yet they were not given a hearing, while Mahadevapura residents spoke of improvements over the basics they had. "It was Diwali eve and at least 70 representatives from KR Puram's RWAs had let go of time to be spent with family to take part in this meet. It was very disappointing," he said.

Varkey Thomas, president of Prakruthi Layout Residents Association, billed the meet "a hogwash". Meanwhile, Gupta said a separate meet would be held to address problems pertaining only to KR Puram either on Friday or Saturday.

"The moderation of the meeting should have been better and some people spoke too long, leaving no time for others. We have learnt from this experience and would henceforth, hold separate meets for each constituency

04th November: Today's top signs of the zodiac are Cancer and Leo. Now, ask any astrologer what happens when we put those two together and they'll tell you that it's great for people who have wild dreams and outstanding ideas, but not so good if you have business to conduct. It might be best to err on the side of caution - just for now!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
Have other people been dragging their heels or simply giving you the runaround? Either way, you may have good cause to grumble. However, the question to be carefully considered is whether you should keep your complaints to yourself and be diplomatic.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Once upon a time many of your ambitions seemed destined to remain distant dreams for ever. As the dust settles you'll see that so much more may now be attainable. The price of freedom is often high but, as time passes, you will see that recent tough decisions put you on the right course.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
Financial muddles may only have added to the general air of confusion, yet there does seem to be considerable hope that matters are about to improve. The answer may lie in new partnerships, perhaps with people who are prepared to back you rather than find fault at every turn.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
Everything that happens to you, and most of your responses, should be seen as part of a larger pattern. Unlikely events may be viewed as stepping stones to a brighter, happier, freer future. You are still juggling a variety of possibilities, so understand that complications are inevitable.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
The Sun, which always has a significant role in your life, is helping you develop certain of your more adventurous aspirations. In short, it's a superb time to organise an overseas trip, or explore ideas and beliefs which are very different from those you've accepted in the past.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
Mercury's current motion brings various possibilities to the fore. One is the need to develop your mind by taking up new interests. Another concerns the pleasure and stimulation you will receive from foreign travel, or from contacts with people from distant places.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
Why don't you back your instincts and hunches to the hilt? True, other people will have useful things to say, but looking at the next few days it becomes clear that you will have to keep your own counsel. Perhaps partners are just not ready to hear what you have to say.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Your planetary rulers, Mars and Pluto, are locking horns. This is a sign that there is a great need for compromise. You may be correct to stand your ground over matters of principle, but equally right to be diplomatic over the details. It could be in your best interests to find some sort of amicable solution.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may still feel as if you're riding an emotional roller-coaster, although it now seems as if recent planetary storms are dying down. Why don't you stand back and attempt to take a critical and dispassionate look at your deeply-held attitudes and opinions?

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
This week's planetary patterns, notably the intense relationship between Mars and Pluto, are of the kind that can rock the boat and make you feel slightly nervous about the future. Don't worry, though. Your trust has certainly not been misplaced.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
If you run into any problems with a partner or loved one, don't blame the world at large or retreat behind a mask, giving the impression that you don't care. Pretending that you don't feel as you do could serve no purpose, so be honest about your desires.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
The planets do not move significantly, so don't expect much change just yet. You will do your best by continuing along your present path, dealing with commitments and responsibilities left over from yesterday, or even from last year. The past may be almost over but it's not completely gone.

INDIA LACKS DATA TO PUSH FOR BOOSTER VACCINE DOSES

Experts say no clarity on who needs it and when, no data on waning immunity, deaths

CHETANA BELAGERE & RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

EVEN after administering more than one billion Covid-19 jabs, India unfortunately doesn't have data to take a concrete decision on booster vaccine doses, say experts.

While countries like US, Malaysia and UK, after witnessing a resurgence in cases, have already started giving booster shots, experts feel that even after half the country is either vaccinated or infected, the authorities have not bothered to compile data, which is important to take a call on booster doses.

"It is unfortunate that a country like Israel, with a population less than Tamil Nadu, is deciding the vaccination policies for the rest of the world. Given the fact that unlike in other parts of the world, half the population in our country is either infected or vaccinated. So would it be so difficult to get our own data?" asks Dr Gagandeep Kang, microbiologist and virologist, and professor at Christian Medical College, Vellore.

A study published in The Lancet on October 29 concluded that Covid-19 vaccine effectiveness evaluated at least seven days after taking the booster dose, compared with only two doses at least five months ago, was estimated to be 93 per cent against admission to hospital, 92 per cent against severe disease, and 81 per cent against Covid-related deaths. While many countries have started giving the third jab, experts say this exercise cannot be carried out in India.

> Given the fact that unlike in other parts of the world, half the population in our country is either infected or vaccinated. So would it be so difficult to get our own data?
> Dr Gagandeep Kang, microbiologist and virologist

"India lacks data on waning of immunity, hospitalisations and deaths, despite taking the vaccine as well as mixing and matching different vaccines. We are not ready for a booster dose, from a public health and scientific literature viewpoint," said Dr Ravindra Mehta, Senior Consultant and HoD, Pulmonology and Interventional Pulmonology, Apollo Speciality Hospital.

Experts and researchers say at some point, people will have to go for a booster dose. "But how do we know when we need them? Is it now? Or two years hence? Who should take it? We need literature," said Kang.

With literature available in India that vaccines have not worked in immuno-compromised individuals, Dr Kang questions, "When two doses of the same have not worked on such people, should we not look at whether vaccination of a different platform needs to be given?"

Dr T Jacob John, leading virologist at Christian Medical College, Vellore, says scientifically, there is no doubt we will need a booster dose. "It is unethical to not vaccinate the elderly, those with comorbidities, chronic diseases etc with a booster. It is needed to save their lives. Also, it is proven that a booster helps slow down the virus's transmissibility. Then why are we not taking the decision yet?" he said.

However, Dr Mehta argues that once a significant portion of the Indian population has received the second dose, and there is sufficient data on Covishield and Covaxin, we can decide on who will require the booster dose and the combination of vaccines. However, mRNA vaccines are still not available in India, he pointed out.

"In Israel and US, the talk of booster doses came about as the two doses of vaccination reduced hospitalisation and death, but were less effective in preventing infection. Hence, they considered giving booster doses to the elderly, immuno-compromised etc," Dr Mehta added.

Experts recommend that those who had taken two doses of a vectored vaccine, can take a third inactivated virus vaccine. For those who took two doses of inactivated virus vaccine, the third can either be the same inactivated vaccine or a vectored one.

DEEP SHOCK

2 more fans of Puneeth die in Tumakuru

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tumakuru

TWO more ardent fans of Puneeth Rajkumar died in separate incidents in Tumakuru district.

Bharath (30) of Kodipalya, near Hebburu in Tumakuru Rural, hanged himself on Tuesday, leaving behind a suicide note, saying he was "joining Appu". As per his wish, family members ensured his eyes were donated.

In another incident, 'Appu' Srinivas (33) of Hirehalli village died of a cardiac arrest in the district general hospital on Tuesday night.

Appu Srinivas

He had been to Bengaluru for a 'darshan' of Puneeth, whom he considered a demigod.

On his return, he was disturbed and started behaving abnormally, and his family members admitted him to a private hospital. Later, he developed chest pain and was shifted to the government hospital where he suffered a cardiac arrest and died.

His was a love marriage with a filmy twist, and he used to watch Puneeth's movies on the day they were screened, said Satish, a resident.

"Puneeth's death gave us as much pain as when Sri Shivakumara Swamiji of Siddaganga Mutt passed away last year. We need time to come to terms with his death," he said.

Satish visited Kanteerava Studio on Tuesday and paid his last respects at the tomb.

Both the deceased were married labourers who left behind wives and small children.

Surge in abortions in Gadag, doctors suspect Covid

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @Gadag

GADAG district is witnessing a high number of spontaneous abortions as well as medical termination of pregnancies (MTPs) in the past six months. It is a worrying issue as babies are dying inside wombs, and complaints of early miscarriages are increasing both in rural and urban areas. Health department data says that from April to September, a total of 363 such cases were reported.

Health officials say Covid-related stress, malnutrition, heredity and many other reasons are behind this worrying number. These abortions are legal and were conducted with the consent of family members, owing to the critical condition of the women.

The numbers also surged last year when the first Covid-19 wave started in April 2020. There were more than 100 abortions in a span of one month. After that, rates dropped but again shot up in the past six months after the second lockdown. According to data, between April and September 2021, a total of 363 cases of spontaneous abortions and MTPs were reported in the district. As many as 137 cases were reported from Gadag taluk, followed by Shirahatti (107), Mundargi (55), Naragund (44) and Ron (20).

A health official from Gadag Institute of Medical Sciences said, "A high number of miscarriages and abortions are among those who failed to take care of their health. During the Covid-induced lockdown, many pregnant women did not take the guidance of doctors. Many others were back at work without knowing they were pregnant, and worked hard for fear of another lockdown. These can be the primary reasons but a detailed study has to be done."

2,600 abortions in a year: MP orders probe

The issue of 2,600 abortions in Davangere district in the past one year rocked the DISHA (District Development Coordination and Monitoring Committee) meeting, held under the chairmanship of MP Dr GM Siddeshwara on Tuesday. DISHA committee member G P Muppanna brought the issue to the notice of the MP and said a detailed probe can help trace the root cause of the problem, and find out whether it was medical termination or abortion due to gender discrimination and other issues. MP Siddeshwara also directed officials to ensure that a detailed probe is conducted and the guilty are brought to book. DHO Dr Nagaraj said that 23,675 pregnancies were reported from April 2020 to March 2021, of which 20,360 resulted in childbirth, and 2,600 were aborted. Information about 715 pregnant women is not yet known. ENS

JDS has lost Hangal and Sindhagi bypolls due to the negative campaign by the Congress against the leaders of the regional party, former minister H D Revanna said

CM completes 100 days in office

'What has been done in those days is important; Will take up exercise to inform public'

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai completed 100 days in office on Wednesday without any celebration. At his RT Nagar residence, he told the media, "There is nothing special about 100 days per se. What has been done in those 100 days is important. We will take up an exercise to inform the public about the government's programmes. Hundred days is not as important a milestone as one year."

Bommai said that he is celebrating Deepavali at Hubballi as has been the practice with him and left the city.

His supporters, listing out the government's achievements, pointed out how Bommai is a "simple CM". They said that he has tried to be the "common man" by doing away with zero-traffic rule for his convoy, guard of honour, bouquets, garlands and other embellishments that are 'colonial appendage'. "He has reduced travelling by special flights and goes in economy class on normal flights," they added.

> The party has done well in the bypolls by winning Sindagi and losing Hanagal by a small margin. In the coming days, he will give good administration and strengthen the party organisation
> BY Raghavendra, BJP Shivamogga MP

After he took over as chief minister, he has made many significant announcements, including financial assistance to farmer's children and 'Jan Sewak Yojana', which offers a clutch of government services like khata, licence and others at the click of a mouse and also reduces corruption by eliminating contact with government officials.

BJP Shivamogga MP BY Raghavendra told TNIE, "In the last 100 days, Bommai has increased the pension for the underprivileged sections of society, indicating his farsightedness. The party has done well in the bypolls by winning Sindagi and losing Hanagal by a small margin. In the coming days, he will give good administration and strengthen the party organisation."

Criticising the government, Congress Legislature Party leader Siddaramaiah said, "The decline of BJP has begun in the state and evidence is the bypoll result. Bommai does not have anything special to offer for his 100 days in office. The Hanagal bypoll result shows how people are not satisfied with the government work. Bommai failed to win in his own home district. There is no difference between his and Yediyurappa's government as both have ignored development work. Voters have taught them a lesson."

JDS BOUND TO OLD MYSURU, BUT FACES TROUBLE HERE TOO

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

THE results of the Hanagal and Sindagi bypolls have proved that the JDS leadership has little or no traction among voters beyond Old Mysuru region, and the party's inability to improve its base.

Almost all six JDS MLAs from constituencies in North Karnataka, including the late M C Managuli of Sindagi, perhaps won due to their own image, with the party playing a secondary role, during the general elections. But the drubbing in the bypolls, especially in Sindagi, gave a clear indication that unless the party fields an established leader, it will fail to make the mark.

By fielding its candidate Niyaz Shaik in Hanagal, where it has no base, the party faced humiliation as it could garner a mere 927 votes, and the minorities went with the Congress candidate.

Down south, JDS has a strong base in five districts, but is facing a problem in its ranks with leaders like Gubbi MLA S R Srinivas, who debuted as an independent and won four times, poised to quit the party. Srinivas feels he can win on his own steam.

When veteran leader and Chamundeshwari MLA G T Devegowda also showed such symptoms, the party leadership was quick to patch up. "Did Devegowda ever say he will quit the party? My grandson Nikhil and his son Harish have held discussions," JDS supremo H D Deve Gowda said, expressing hope that Devegowda will stay on in the party.

Though Gowda and Kumaraswamy said the bypoll results are not disheartening as they will have no bearing on the 2023 general elections, party insiders informed TNIE that Gowda is upset, in particular about the debacle in Sindagi. He is worried that despite his intense campaign and his contribution to irrigate the constituency when he was chief minister, candidate Naziya Angadi lost her deposit.

'CONSPIRACY BY CONG'

Party MLC B M Farooq, while defending the party's decision to field minorities in both seats, attacked the Congress, saying it had conspired to snub the Muslim community leadership. "The JDS will continue to groom Muslim youths in future too," he said. "We have no dearth of leaders in North Karnataka -- we have MLAs Raja Venkatappa Nayak in Manvi, Naganagouda in Gurmitkal, Bandeppa Kashempur in Bidar South, Nadagouda Venkatarao in Sindhanoor and Devanand F Chavan in Nagthan," pointed out MLC K A Thippeswamy. "We will groom new leaders and win more seats in North Karnataka in 2023," he added.

PROTESTS GALORE

BJP SC wing turns its guns on Siddaramaiah

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru/Mysuru/Kalaburagi

THE BJP stepped up its attack against Congress leader Siddaramaiah by staging protests across the state, including in Bengaluru, Mysuru and Kalaburagi, on Wednesday. Soon after the bypoll results were announced, the saffron party had termed the former CM an "opportunist" for "hurrying to claim credit for the Congress victory in Hanagal".

The protests were initiated by the party's SC wing, which alleged that Siddaramaiah had targeted SC leaders in the BJP. "During a speech at a community meeting before the Sindagi bypoll, Siddaramaiah had remarked that SCs are joining the BJP to secure a livelihood," the protesters said.

They alleged that his remarks had hurt the community. "Many SC leaders quit the Congress as they were sidelined by Siddaramaiah, and not because of livelihood," they said, and demanded an apology.

BJP SC Morcha members, led by state president Chalavadi Narayanaswamy and Kudachi MLA P Rajeev, staged a demonstration at Mourya Circle in Bengaluru. "If anyone switched parties for a living, it is Siddaramaiah who quit JDS to join the Congress," Rajeev said.

Former MLC Ashwath Narayan said Siddaramaiah snubbed SC leaders in the Congress as he defeated former DyCM G Parameshwara when the latter was in the running for CM in the 2013 Assembly polls from Koratagere. "He also cast a shadow on the careers of Congress leaders like Mallikarjuna Kharge, H C Mahadevappa, Akhanda Srinivasamurthy and minority community leaders," he said.

In Kalaburagi, SC Morcha members staged a protest and burnt the effigy of Siddaramaiah at Timmapur Circle.

Meanwhile, KPCC president D K Shivakumar defended Siddaramaiah and maintained that the Congress has always stood with SCs and vice-versa.

Siddaramaiah, who has traction among AHINDA communities (Kannada acronym for minorities, Backward Classes and Dalits), is perceived as a threat by rival parties. In order to wean a section of Dalits away from him, they are raising these issues in the run-up to the 2023 polls, and may also take up the Dalit CM issue, they said.

Ex-BJP MLA slaps cop

Raichur: Police registered a case against BJP leader and former MLA Papareddy and four others for allegedly slapping a policeman in plainclothes, attached to West police station here on Wednesday. SP Nikhil B said, "Police have collected video evidence of Papareddy slapping constable Raghavendra on Wednesday."

The incident occurred when BJP SC Morcha workers were staging a protest. Papareddy later told the media, "I mistook the policeman in mufti for a BJP worker."

DKS urges CM to reveal details of Bitcoin scam

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA Pradesh Congress Committee president D K Shivakumar has urged the Basavaraj Bommai government to release details of the multi-crore Bitcoin scam, especially now as the matter was reportedly noted even by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Speaking to media persons on Wednesday, the Congress leader blamed the State Government of trying to hide information about the scam even as it has written to investigative agencies, including the Enforcement Directorate and the CBI.

"Since the chargesheets have been filed, the Chief Minister should reveal the names of those involved in the scam, charges framed under which sections of the IPC and how the government is dealing with the entire issue," he requested the CM.

He also sought transparent investigation by the central agencies as well as by a sitting judge of the Supreme Court so that the truth comes out.

When asked that the government was also pursuing the drugs case which came to light when he was a minister in 2018, Shivakumar said the Bommai government can mention his name if it finds any evidence.

Talking about the bypoll victory in Hanagal, he gave all the credit to the voters for electing a Congress candidate and sending a message to the country. "We leaders who delivered speeches during campaigning did not deserve the credit. Instead it's the voters. We just elicited their response to their situation under the ruling BJP dispensation and they answered through the EVMs," he said.

"Some analysts had started dubbing the Congress as a sinking boat, but the results of the bypolls across the country showed otherwise. Our next target is the 2023 elections for which the preparation will soon start."

He said the party's reorganisation process by reshuffling office-bearers and district heads has already been done and the list of Bengaluru office-bearers will be released on Thursday.

Officials told to bring cows to temples for worship

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

ANIMAL Husbandry Minister Prabhu Chavan has directed his department officials to bring cows to state-owned temples for worship on Balipadyami which falls on Friday.

In a release, the minister said that a circular has been issued to depute an Animal Husbandry official in each district for 'Gau Puja'. The worship will be conducted by the Animal Husbandry Department in association with the State Endowment Department. He also requested elected representatives from each constituency to take part in the 'Gau Puja'.

The minister also said awareness on protection of cows and encourage people to buy 'Gau Utpanna' (cow products), including cow dung, is being conducted. He also appealed people to to use 'Gaumeya' (lamps made of cow dung) for Deepawali. Such lamps are eco-friendly and can be utilised as manure for plants after use. This will also help farmers as they can get additional income, the minister said.

CM off to Delhi on Nov 6 to explain bypoll results

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai is travelling to New Delhi on November 6 (Saturday) after Deepavali to attend the BJP National Executive meeting. He is expected to meet party leaders and update them on Tuesday's bypoll results.

BJP sources said that the top party leadership is unhappy with the bypoll results, especially the loss in the Hanagal Assembly constituency that falls under Bommai's home district of Haveri. "Bommai is expected to give reasons for the party's performance at Hanagal," they added.

This will be his fifth visit since he took over as chief minister on July 26. Bommai completed 100 days in office on Wednesday. The chief minister, who is meeting the top leaders including party national President JP Nadda, will give a report card on his 100 days of performance. Apart from Bommai, the National Executive meeting will be attended by Karnataka leaders -- Union Minister Pralhad Joshi and BJP National General Secretary CT Ravi.

The party is also holding a review meeting in Bengaluru from November 8. Arun Singh, BJP national general secretary and Karnataka in-charge, will meet party office-bearers and also review the bypoll results.

50 lakh govt schoolkids may get Lidkar shoes

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

CLOSE to 50 lakh students in more than 50,000 government-run schools in Karnataka are likely to get shoes from the state-run Leather Industries Development Corporation (LIDKAR).

If the government acts on the proposal, the initiative will not only benefit children, but it will also create work for more than 48,000 leather artisans in the state.

Well-known as Lidkar, the Dr Babu Jagjivan Ram Leather Industries Development Corporation Ltd's main objective is to uplift socio-economic condition of leather artisans who hail from the Scheduled Caste. The company runs a couple of stores to sell products made by the artisans.

The company wanted to approach the Department of Public Instruction (DPI) to supply shoes to school children, but schools were shut due to the pandemic, it did not pursue the matter.

Now that schools have resumed physical classes, Lidkar has approached the government with the proposal.

N Linganna, chairman of Lidkar, said they have written to Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai as well as Education Minister B C Nagesh in this regard. "If they give the approval, we are ready to start the supply of shoes," he said.

Asked if they will be able to cover so many schools, Linganna said their artisans have adopted technology and are capable of supplying in large numbers.

Sources from DPI said there were complaints about low-quality shoes supplied to students and flaws in the distribution process. "We are aware of Lidkar shoes which are of good quality. But we have doubts regarding the supply of such a huge number of shoes at a time," a source said.

Students in more than 50,000 government schools in the state will benefit

Social Welfare Minister Kota Srinivas Poojari, under whose department Lidkar functions, said they are keen on the proposal.

LARGEST FLAG

2-km-long Tiranga March enters India Book of Records

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Hubballi

A 2-km-long national flag with a width of 3 metre, which was carried through a procession at Kalaghatagi town of Dharwad district, has entered the India Book of Records. The event was held to mark 75 years of Independence on August 15 this year.

Around 10,000 people, especially school and college students from Kalaghatagi town and nearby villages, gathered in the town to take out the procession. Led by former minister and Congress leader Santosh Lad, local residents, Youth Congress members and party workers participated in the event.

The biggest flag in the country was stitched at a textile factory in Bengaluru using 350 kg of cloth. It took about 48 hours for 60 people to complete the stitching, which was a challenge for the textile staff too, said one of the organisers.

Santosh Lad told The New Indian Express, "The country was celebrating the 75th year of Independence and we wanted to make the celebration memorable and unique. That was when we came up with the idea of Tiranga March at Kalaghatagi. With the help of my friends, we managed to get the 2-km-long, 9-ft wide national flag stitched."

He said, "The procession went through National Highway 63, and enthusiastic motorists shot videos of the procession, spreading the message."

Appreciating the effort, the India Book of Records sent a certificate and a medal to Lad recently.

Tax officials unearth unaccounted income, many big-ticket contractors under I-T scanner

ENS @ Bengaluru

SOME big-ticket contractors engaged in civil construction and irrigation projects in Karnataka are under the Income Tax Department scanner for alleged tax violations.

In October alone, I-T sleuths reportedly unearthed huge tax violations running into crores of rupees by these entities. Last week, the tax authorities detected unaccounted income of more than Rs 70 crore from one of the leading groups of Karnataka, engaged in construction of roads and irrigation projects. This followed search and seizure operations on October 28 at various premises in North Karnataka.

According to an official release from the Ministry of Finance on Wednesday, the search operation revealed that "this group has been suppressing its profits by booking bogus expenses in purchase of materials, labour expenses and payment to subcontractors. Various incriminating documents including digital evidence indicating non-genuine claim of such expenses have been found and seized".

"Analysis of the seized documents shows that unaccounted cash has been received by the key group person from such vendors/ suppliers of materials. It was also found that their own relatives/friends/employees were used as conduits in the name of subcontractors who neither executed any work nor did they have the capability/ capacity to execute the work. The assessee group has been generating unaccounted cash from these transactions," added the ministry.

11 people injured in 62 stone-throwing incidents on trains in B'luru division

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Railway Division has witnessed 62 incidents of stones being hurled on moving trains with 11 passengers suffering injuries in 2021. Despite the arrest of 55 miscreants in these incidents, the reckless behaviour of youth living near railway tracks continues unabated, causing losses to the Railways.

According to a top cop of the Railway Protection Force, Hebbal-Baiyappanahalli, Yelahanka-Rajanagunte, Yesvantpur-Lottegahalli and outer areas of Krishnarajapuram are the vulnerable spots. "The incidents this year are lesser than the previous year as fewer trains run now," the cop said.

Arrested stone pelters revealed that they were doing it for fun without realising the consequences. "In air-conditioned compartments, the shut glass window panes get damaged, while in non-AC coaches, passengers seated near the window get injured," said a senior railway official. "The glasses are double-coated in AC compartments. It costs us thousands of rupees to replace each glass," he added.

Miscreants are booked under different sections of the Railway Act, Section 147 for Trespassing, Section 145 (D) for causing nuisance and Section 153 for endangering passengers. A good number of those involved are children and are sent to juvenile homes. "Most of them are drug addicts and do not even realise they are committing a crime and endangering others. The stone-throwers continue to remain on the tracks and do not attempt to run away too," the RPF cop said.

The RPF has tied up with NGOs to visit slums near railway tracks to create awareness. "We carry with us 6 feet by 4 feet pics of the injured individuals, study material, novels and even details on vocation courses to help channelise the energy of these boys," the cop said.

Murdered youth identified by cops

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Rajarajeshwari Nagar police, investigating the case in which a youth's body was found in a gunny bag near a Rajakaluve, have finally established the identity of the deceased.

The deceased have been identified as Tarun M (20), a resident of Murugapillai Street in Bharathi Nagar. His body was found in a gunny bag near a Rajakaluve in D'Souza Nagar in Rajarajeshwari Nagar on Tuesday morning. The assailants had tied his hands and legs and had also taped his mouth and nose.

"The photos of the deceased were shared with all police stations. We were also gathering information on missing persons. Late on Tuesday night, the identity of the deceased was established as a missing person's complaint was registered in Bharathi Nagar police station," the police said.

Tarun's father Mani, who runs a fruit stall, had filed a complaint stating that Tarun, who helped him in the business, had left home at around 11.30 am on Monday, taking Rs 2,000 from him to buy crackers.

"We are gathering information about Tarun's friends and are trying to figure out whether he had a rivalry with anyone," the police added.

D'Souza Nagar a locality of fear

There is fear and panic among residents of D'Souza Nagar in Bengaluru West, where an open rajakaluve serves as an easy spot for murderers to dispose of victims' bodies, BJP National Executive Council member Rashmi D'Souza told TNIE on Wednesday. This follows the discovery of a body in a gunny sack on Tuesday. She said it has become common to dump bodies through an opening to the rajakaluve, which flows like a river here. The sheer brutality of the murders was destroying the peace here, she told Revenue Minister R Ashoka after leading a group of residents to meet him. They requested that a retaining wall be constructed so that the bodies cannot be disposed of here, and also sought better policing. D'Souza said this is the second time a body has been found here in recent times. About 200 residents had signed a letter, seeking that a wall be put up. She also said that chain snatching has become commonplace at the underpass in D'Souza Nagar and better lighting was necessary to eradicate fear in people.

HC: Invoke SC/ST Act only when crime is caste-based

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WHILE the Scheduled Castes/ Scheduled Tribes (Prevention of Atrocities) Act is essentially meant to protect the members of the SC or ST communities, at the same, it should not be misused. Therefore, there is a greater responsibility on the investigating officer to make a decision before filing the chargesheet, said Karnataka High Court.

Justice Sreenivas Harish Kumar said that it is not as though in every crime, if the victim happens to be a member of SC or ST communities, it is an offence under Section 3 of the Act. If the motive for crime is not casteist, the accused can only be chargesheeted under the offences under Indian Penal Code that can be appropriately invoked in the background of the incident of crime or under other law which can be applied as the facts and circumstances indicate, he said.

Quashing the proceedings initiated under the Act against Lokanath, resident of Rajajinagar in city, as no offence of atrocity appears to have taken place, the court noted that Section 2(a) of the Act defines the word 'atrocity' as an offence punishable under Section 3 of the Act. The Act was enacted for eradication of untouchability, and to protect the members of scheduled caste or scheduled tribes from casteist attack and discrimination, the court added.

TRS WORKERS THRASH FARMERS

Ryots refuse to give land for TRS event, local corporator's husband roughs them up

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hanamkonda

THE TRS workers, led by a corporator's husband, have allegedly beaten up farmers of Devannapet village in Hanamkonda district for objecting to holding the pink party's Vijaya Garjana programme, scheduled for November 29, in their agriculture fields.

Their contention was that if the public meeting was allowed, the boundaries of their land holdings would get effaced and as the party workers would use gravel for making arrangements for the public meeting, the soil too would be affected making it difficult for them to raise any crops in the future.

The trouble started when the leaders, including former deputy chief minister Kadiyam Srihari, Government Chief Whip Dasyam Vinay Bhaskar and Wardhannapet MLA Aroori Ramesh tried to enter the farmers' agriculture fields. While stopping the TRS leaders from entering their fields, the farmers asked them to look elsewhere to find land for their programme.

Devannapet farmers in an altercation with TRS leaders on Wednesday | EXPRESS

Enraged by the farmers' audacity, 65 Division Corporator Gugulothu Divya Rani's husband Raju Naik along with his supporters roughed up the villagers in the presence the TRS leaders, who later left the scene in a huff.

On instructions from the party's leadership, the three leaders arrived in Devannapet in Hasanparthy mandal for finalising a place for the public meeting. As the land near the village is close to the Hyderabad-Warangal Highway No 163, they decided to finalise the place but the farmers stopped them in their tracks.

While obstructing the leaders' visit, the villagers also staged a protest and stood their ground even though the visitors tried the best to convince them to let the meeting be held in their fields.

According to the farmers, they requested Srihari and Vinay Bhaskar to look elsewhere for proper place for public meeting since the cotton crop is ready for harvesting. They told the leaders that it was a very crucial time for the crop and if it is disturbed, their entire investment would go down the drain.

Speaking to Express, Hasanparthy Inspector K Sridhar Rao said he has not received any complaint. "If we get a complaint, we will look into the matter," he said.

Due to the formation of a low pressure area over Comorin as a part of the North East monsoon, the Indian Meteorological Department (IMD) has predicted rain in most parts of Karnataka in the coming days. Not only will the state experience showers, the temperature is also likely to take a dip. Director-in-charge, IMD Bengaluru, Geeta Agnihotri, said that the temperatures are dipping because of the cloud cover. "It is not that winter has set in early," she clarified. The IMD officials said that even as no forecast has been issued regarding the onset of winter, it may set in early.

A day off for TN cops

SAHAYA NOVINSTON LOBO

TAMIL Nadu police personnel between the ranks of Grade-II constables and Head Constables can now take a day off, according to an order issued by the State government on Wednesday. The move is an effort for the personnel to take care of their health and spend quality time with their family, said the order.

The decision was taken after a review meeting held by the police with the government nearly three weeks ago. Chief Minister MK Stalin had promised to provide a week-off to personnel, said a senior police official, adding adding that it was much needed as junior-level personnel work up to 14 hours a day without a break.

Man attacks TN actor at airport

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A man tried to attack Tamil actor Maha Gandhi, who was accompanied by popular Tamil actor Vijay Sethupathi, at the Kempegowda International Airport here on Wednesday.

Police said the attack was thwarted by Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) personnel. Both were let off with a warning, after they submitted apology letters.

It is learnt that Sethupathi, Gandhi, and others had flown from Chennai to Bengaluru on Tuesday evening. A police officer said there was a verbal spat between Gandhi and a co-passenger, who was later identified as Johnson, on board the aircraft.

"After the flight landed around midnight, the actors were walking out. At the arrival section, Johnson, who was in an inebriated state, tried to kick Gandhi, but one of his friends pushed him aside. The CISF personnel at the spot intervened and took Johnson into custody. Both the parties including Sethupathi were brought to the International Airport police station. Gandhi and Johnson both decided not to file any complaint. Apology letters were taken from both and were released after a stern warning," a senior police officer said.

Rain may dampen Deepavali spirit

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tirupati

IN what can be a dampener to the Diwali festivities in parts of the State, the Met department had predicted heavy rains at isolated places over the entire Rayalaseema and the south Coastal Andhra while thunderstorm with lightning might occur at isolated places over north coastal Andhra.

The Diwali festivities have been on a duller note since the outbreak of Covid pandemic with the adverse impact on purchasing power. This year, apart from the rains and the cloudy weather over the past couple of days in Rayalaseema and also in other districts like Prakasam and Nellore, the high prices of fire crackers have dampened the spirits.

The Met department had warned of heavy rains in Rayalaseema and south coastal Andhra Pradesh for the next days. Parts of Rayalaseema, Nellore and Prakasam districts have been receiving intermittent rains since last night.

K Ramesh Kumar, a trader from RSR school grounds in Nellore city said, ₹₹We used to get around Rs.40,000 - Rs.55,000 per day profit two days before the festival. But, the situation this time has changed with rainfall this year.''

Even, other stalls in the grounds witnessed few customers. ₹₹Those who are coming are select brands of crackers which are very low cost," he said.

In Ongole, the traders said they were at huge loss due to the spells of rain that were lashing the city for the past two day. Added to this, the police department, on the name of violations, is imposing fines on us, a trader alleged.

Meanwhile, the vigorous movement of the northeast monsoon rains battered Tirupati for the second consecutive day on Wednesday.

Rainfall alert for Kerala, Odisha, TN

Rain may dampen Diwali celebrations in southern Odisha with the India Meteorological Department (IMD) forecasting light to moderate rainfall at a few places in four districts on Thursday. IMD has also issued an orange alert for different parts of Kerala.

SKILL DEMAND SURVEY WILL HELP TRAIN YOUTH IN REGIONAL SKILLS

ENS @ Bengaluru

A skill demand assessment survey will be conducted in Karnataka to collect data on region-wise skill requirement, paving the way to train youth to cater to current needs.

This was decided at a meeting between Higher Education Minister Dr C N Ashwath Narayan and central government ministers in New Delhi, said a report from the minister's office. Narayan met six Union ministers and discussed skill development, status of proposals, creating a robust entrepreneurial ecosystem and taking projects forward. He also expressed the need to map artisans, including handloom weavers, while emphasising that the Karnataka government's priority would be the growth of semiconductor and electronic sectors.

"Karnataka's offerings for Semiconductor Fab and High Tech Park had been sent to the secretary, MeitY, GoI, and Karnataka had agreed to provide up to Rs 150 cr subsidy on land for setting up semiconductor fab at Haralur Industrial Area in Bengaluru Rural," he said.

Narayan, who is also IT/BT Minister, has pitched for a national conference of IT ministers in Karnataka, to help showcase innovations happening in the state in IT & ITeS based emerging technologies. A request was also made to Union Minister for Higher Education Dharmendra Pradhan for more funds for higher education. Pradhan appreciated the NEP implementation and said he would visit Karnataka every alternate month.

Unknown disease kills nine ostriches in Vandalur Zoo

Chennai: An unknown disease has been wreaking havoc at the Arignar Anna Zoological Park in Vandalur, as nine healthy Ostriches have succumbed in just over a week and two more are reportedly sick. Vandalur Zoo authorities, despite their best efforts, have so far been unable to diagnose the exact cause. "Being an exotic bird, nothing much is known. All the birds were healthy and exhibited no prolonged symptoms. Just a day before, they looked dull, inactive and then collapsed. We suspect that it is something specific to ostriches because all other birds in the zoo are absolutely fine," Vandalur Zoo director V Karuna Priya told TNIE. ENS

HAPPY HOURS

Toast this: Pubs come to Kerala IT parks

ANU KURUVILLA @ Kochi

HAPPY hours after work will soon become a reality in IT parks of Kerala as well. The announcement made by Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan regarding the setting up of pubs and wine parlours was welcomed as a positive initiative by IT professionals. The initiative, if implemented, is being hailed as a move that can attract more talent to the state.

"One of the prime attractions for techies working at IT parks in cities like Bengaluru, Hyderabad and Chennai are the availability of avenues to alleviate stress. This is something that has been lacking in Kerala," pointed out Anish Pandalani, a techie at Infopark in Kochi. When a multi-national firm decides to set up a facility in an IT park, the availability of entertainment facilities is also taken into consideration, even if it comes last in the list of requirements, he added.

"Jobs that require a lot of intellectual activity or brain-burning need to be supplemented with opportunity for relaxation," said Robin Alex Panicker, chief product officer, Finotes.

Another important avenue that the pubs and wine parlours provide is networking, Robin said. "Meeting up team members or other techies while having a social drink is an important part of releasing stress. Pubs promote social drinking. "Unlike the usual mode of drowning oneself in a bottle, this is something that has to be developed in urban areas too," he added.

According to Anand P, state secretary of Progressive Techies and a techie at Technopark, the introduction of pubs will bring to life the non-existent nightlife in IT parks.

Father, imam of local mosque arrested for 11-year-old's death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Kannur

INVESTIGATING the death of 11-year-old M M Fathima who had died under suspicious circumstances, the Kannur city police on Wednesday arrested two persons including the girl's father, Abdul Sathar (55) of Naluvayal. Muhammad Uwaiz (30), Imam of the Kunhippally mosque in the city, is the other person arrested. The duo has been charged with culpable homicide not amounting to murder under IPC and under the Juvenile Justice Act, said City Police Commissioner R Ilango.

Fathima was brought to a private hospital in Kannur on Sunday morning with high fever and breathing difficulty. Despite the hospital authorities best efforts, her life could not be saved as she was brought in too late. The child's relatives raised doubts about her death and lodged a complaint with the police. On Monday, the police registered a case for unnatural death.

It is alleged that Fathima's parents refused to give her medical attention and opted for religious witchcraft instead. During interrogation, Uwaiz is learnt to have confessed that he had prevented the parents from going to the hospital. He told the police that he had given the girl 'sacred water' after chanting and blowing into it. On Wednesday, the city police called him to the station and recorded his arrest. Sathar was arrested from his house around 11am. The two were presented before the Kannur Judicial First Class Magistrate court which remanded them for two weeks.

Besides Fathima's alleged murder, the police are also investigating the deaths of five more persons in the area, three of those in her family.

The police said a 70-year-old woman, of Azad Road, and her son and sister, all of them from the family of Sathar, had died under similar circumstances. Uwaiz had also advised many people in the region not to take the Covid vaccine, the police said. He used to discourage people from seeking either allopathic or ayurvedic medicines.

Besides Uwaiz, there are other people in the region who indulge in witchcraft and black magic, the police said. More people will soon be brought before the law, the police added.

Asking to remove PM's photo from vax certificate dangerous: Kerala HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Kochi

ASKING to remove Prime Minister Narendra Modi's photo from the Covid vaccination certificate is a very dangerous proposition and could lead to more such demands in future, observed the Kerala High Court on Wednesday.

Justice N Nagaresh made the observation while hearing the petition filed by Peter Mayaliparambil of Kottayam. "This is a very dangerous proposition. Tomorrow someone can come here and protest that they don't like Mahatma Gandhi and can seek the removal of his image from our currency notes saying it's their blood and sweat and they don't want to see Mahatma's face on it. What will happen then?" the judge asked.

The petitioner's counsel replied that Gandhiji's image is printed on currency notes as per Reserve Bank of India (RBI) Regulations, but there was no statutory provision that stipulates the usage of prime minister's image.

The petitioner said the prime minister's image on the vaccination certificate serves no purpose. It is just a certificate issued merely to confirm the status of vaccination of a person. No other country in the world issues a certificate with the leader's face. He claimed that any additional message or motivational quote in a certificate issued to a fully vaccinated person is irrelevant and is no more than 'preaching to the converted.'

HC gives liberty to I-T officials to file fresh plea

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court granted liberty to Income Tax officials to file a fresh petition while rejecting the petition questioning a private complaint and FIR over alleged excesses on their part during a raid, on technical grounds.

Income Tax officials B Arun, S Arun Kumar, Rohit Sharma and Assistant Director Anand filed the petition, seeking quashing of a case against them before the magistrate, following a private complaint filed by Pawan Kumar Sachdeva, an employee of A-One Steels India Private Limited in Bengaluru.

Pawan Kumar and three others filed a complaint against the I-T officials, alleging assault during a raid in August 2019. Police did not register an FIR but issued an NCR. They approached court which referred the complaint for investigation against the officials.

MIXED MESSAGE FROM BYPOLLS, BJP HAS A HIMACHAL HEADACHE

Long before the final results for the Dadra and Nagar Haveli Lok Sabha bypoll were declared on Tuesday, the Shiv Sena, after taking a big lead, rather pompously declared that the road to Delhi would pass through the little Union Territory, meaning it would be khela hobe in 2024, with the opposition parties ready to challenge the BJP's electoral dominance. That may be premature but the 32 bypoll results gave the BJP reasons to introspect and worry. In election-bound Himachal Pradesh and Rajasthan, both Hindi-speaking states that are natural habitats of the BJP, the party was trumped by a Congress that has been rudderless since the heavy defeat in the 2014 general elections. In West Bengal, just six months after the party made a high-pitch attempt to conquer the state, the BJP was crushed under the relentless Trinamool Congress juggernaut. Besides, it failed to retain a seat in Karnataka despite vigorous campaigning by new Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai. The saving grace came from Madhya Pradesh and three states in the Northeast, where the BJP and its allies did exceedingly well. But the party will take little heart from the win in the Northeast and even Huzurabad in Telangana. That is because unlike in the Hindi heartland, where the BJP's politics is steeped in the Hindutva ideology, it does not have an organic presence and appeal in other regions, one reason why it struggles to expand its footprint in the south, West Bengal and Odisha. This is why its setback in Himachal Pradesh and Rajasthan will be of particular concern.

But for the opposition, one swallow does not make a summer. The BJP is still a powerful force that would be hard to beat even in the Assembly elections early next year. As long as the saffron party can ward off any challenge to its traditional support base in central India while profiting from strategic alliances in its weak areas, the opposition's hopes of dislodging it will remain a pipe dream. The BJP also knows that opposition unity is littered with bloated egos and competing prime ministerial ambitions of the likes of Sharad Pawar, Mamata Banerjee, Mayawati, et al., making its job easier.

TRS PAYS FOR HIGH-HANDEDNESS

The beauty of democracy, as is often said, is it can humble leaders who consider themselves invincible and tend to take people for granted, living under the illusion that they are akin to kings of the past. The humiliating defeat for the ruling TRS by a margin of close to 24,000 votes in the just concluded bypoll to the Huzurabad Assembly constituency is yet another reminder of the realities that cronies would not let leaders see.

It all began with Eatala Rajender, a member of the KCR Cabinet, being stripped of his ministry on the grounds that he allegedly indulged in land irregularities. A hurriedly conducted inquiry completed within 24 hours told the world what KCR wanted to. Sensing further harassment, Rajender sought shelter in the BJP even as he quit as an MLA to prove his worth. And he did that almost six months later, during the course of which the ruling party played every trick in the book to ensure he didn't return to the Assembly. Developmental works worth hundreds of crores were announced and some of them executed, ₹10 lakh was promised to every Dalit family, and KCR even sought to make a turncoat Reddy leader from the same segment a member of the Legislative Council. A battery of ministers and party leaders camped in the constituency for months at the expense of attending to their normal duties and every voter was said to have been bribed in the range of ₹5,000 to ₹6,000. Therefore, for top TRS leaders to now dismiss the bypoll as unimportant and the result as being of no consequence only amounts to being brave in the face of a shock.

Whether he likes it or not, KCR has none to blame but himself for whatever he did and the fallout of his actions. Any CM has the right to drop a minister but the manner in which the entire episode has been scripted reeked of arrogance. People do condone mistakes and failures of the government to honour promises but do not approve of high-handedness. The bypoll result is also perhaps an indication that KCR's promises are no longer believed by people the way they used to earlier. The long-term adverse effects of the bypoll result on the TRS may be difficult to hazard at this point of time, but it will surely embolden critics of KCR within and outside the party.

Studying Hindustan Lever's efforts to steady the boat after liberalisation shows how far Indian management has moved in terms of strategy in the last three decades

TRANSFORMATION OF HLL AFTER LIBERALISATION

In two previous columns, I had recounted the initial responses of Hindustan Lever (HLL) and the Tata Group respectively to the shocks of the 1991 liberalisation. In this column and the next, I propose to summarise how both steadied their boats.

Hindustan Lever undertook what I call QICA efforts—Quality, Innovation, Collaboration and Acquisitions. The key lesson to remember is that transformation efforts demand upgrading the car engine while it is running.

In this brief article, I have highlighted only those activities that could not be undertaken earlier due to restrictions. The QICA issues may appear to be ordinary when viewed through a 2021 lens, but they were a novel way of thinking at that time. It also demonstrates how far Indian management has moved in terms of strategy in the last three decades.

Four key initiatives were:

1. Quality: First was a major product quality drive by benchmarking locally produced goods with imports, pointing to the urgent need for upgradation. HLL internally proselytised techniques like TPM and considered imports of machines and packaging materials as required, an activity that was near impossible earlier.
2. Innovation: Next was the special emphasis on product innovation and the setting up of a second international R&D centre in Bangalore, the first one having been set up in Mumbai in the 1970s.
3. Collaboration: Then there were multifarious business collaborations with the parent Unilever. Earlier, Unilever could not be remitted brand, technical or service fees, but such expenses could now be paid under the new dispensation. For example, being a global leader in ice creams, Unilever had for long been very keen on establishing an ice cream business in India. Under the license-permit raj, dairy ice cream was reserved for small-scale manufacture, being one out of some 750 items so reserved. Claiming the vegetable fat-based product—which was called frozen dessert by HLL—was different from dairy ice cream, Brooke Bond Lipton set up a spanking new investment in Nashik and launched Walls Frozen Desserts. This became very controversial at that time, though the issue died a natural death with subsequent de-reservation of several products, including ice cream.
4. Acquisitions: Mergers and acquisitions were relatively new activities in the 1990s for India Inc. After acquiring TOMCO, HLL went on to acquire Lakme from Tata after both companies undertook relevant governance processes. HLL also divested its phosphate chemicals business to Tata Chemicals. The acquisition of the public sector company, Modern Bakeries, followed. Later, HLL divested its hair oil brand, Nihar; it purchased an ayurvedic hair oil brand called Indulekha. Cadbury's ice cream operations were acquired by Brooke Bond Lipton. The company entered a hugely complex deal to acquire four independent Kwality ice cream entities, all of which used a common brand name. This helped Unilever establish an ice cream business in India. Kissan tomato products business was acquired from the flamboyant Vijay Mallya, as also the Zahura tomato plant from PepsiCo India. It was an appropriate vehicle for the ambitious plans that Brooke Bond Lipton's foods business had.

When I was the managing director of Brooke Bond Lipton, I found a company whose employees had experienced as many as 10 mergers within just the previous four years: first Brooke Bond acquired Lipton, then Doom Dooma Assam and Tea Estates India, followed by Kissan, Milkfoods, Zahura and the four differently owned Kwality entities. All this was possible in such a short time because of liberalisation. I might point out that the resultant company suffered from some indigestion and loss of morale.

> Under the license-permit raj, dairy ice cream had been reserved for small-scale manufacture. ... Claiming the vegetable fat-based product—which was called frozen dessert by HLL—was different from dairy ice cream, Brooke Bond Lipton set up a spanking new investment in Nashik

In a quandary about how to handle management morale, I casually asked an assistant hailing from Kerala what the future bore for the company. Being a trained astrologer, he promptly cast the company horoscope after ascertaining the date of birth from the company's registration certificate and pronounced, "This company has so far behaved as a man and has given its own name to those he married. The company will get peace of mind by behaving like a woman and by taking the name of a husband whom she should marry."

His astrological opinion did not influence the subsequent decision to merge Brooke Bond Lipton into Hindustan Lever! It became the biggest merger of that time and was also highly controversial because it led to some legal cases.

Before liberalisation, India was quite insulated from global media, trends and thinking. The winds of liberalisation brought global ideas into business.

In the case of HLL, this began in the mid-1980s, a tad ahead of liberalisation. HLL strived to be productive not only economically but also in terms of benefiting the environment. HLL started the first experiment with Chhindwara in Madhya Pradesh, where it began to recycle significant quantities of treated effluent back into process or on to land for irrigation. This saved costs for the company and ensured that HLL's operations would not strain the rural environment. The chemical engineers in the factories explored the possibility of designing zero effluent factories long before it became a part of sustainability programmes. Reforestation attempts in Maharashtra's Khamgaon were started for similar reasons.

Did Lever transform itself successfully by repairing the car while its engine was running? In 1991 HLL earned a revenue of $700 million, which has grown to over $7 billion now. The company's market capitalisation has grown from $900 million to over $75 billion currently.

WHY THE CLIMATE EQUITY MONITOR IS NEEDED

TEJAL KANITKAR
Associate Professor, National Institute of Advanced Studies, Bengaluru

T JAYARAMAN
Senior Fellow, Climate Change, MSSRF, Chennai

The world has a limited carbon budget to restrict temperature rise since pre-industrial times to either 1.5°C or 2°C. This budget is more stringently limited for the temperature target of 1.5°C, and more than 80% of it was already exhausted by 2019. The narrative on net-zero and the aggressive push for all countries to declare target years for it ignore the scientific understanding of the problem of global warming. It is not the year of net-zero that is the determining factor for global temperature rise, but the cumulative emissions till the world reaches net-zero emissions. The Climate Equity Monitor (CEM) centre stages this core scientific understanding.

The CEM also integrates this result of climate science with the basic issue of climate equity and justice. Developed countries have usurped a disproportionately large share of the carbon budget and based on the currently declared targets, will continue to do so even in the future. The CEM clearly illustrates the scale of developed country overuse and provides estimates of the carbon debt and credit of different Annex-I (developed nations) and non-Annex-I (developing countries). The methodology used is clear and straightforward.

Unfortunately, many other websites that track climate efforts emerge from the Global North and completely sideline the issue of historical responsibility. They provide no historical context to the pledges made for the future and many of them greenwash the repeatedly delayed action of developed countries that is responsible for the climate crisis we face today. In the process of greenwashing, they also fall short on representing the science accurately. For example, the 'effort' of the US on climate change is often termed "adequate" despite its high historical and per capita emissions, repeated withdrawal from climate agreements, and continued dependence on fossil fuels (coal, oil, and natural gas), just because of a net-zero declaration for 30 years into the future that will result in their disproportionate consumption of even the remaining carbon budget. Such representation of developed countries' actions ignores both science and equity, which are key elements of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC).

> In India, we have been looking purely inward as if the entire responsibility to address the issue of climate change was ours. ... The Climate Equity Monitor is meant to bring a shift in awareness, especially in India, to the fact that climate change is a global collective action problem and cannot be solved merely by self-sacrifice

With the CEM, we aim to represent a perspective on climate equity from the developing world. To the best of our knowledge, this is the first initiative of its kind from the developing world. But we hope that many others take up the task of putting forward their own perspectives emerging from the realities of their people and their social and economic conditions.

In India, too often we have been looking purely inward as if the entire responsibility to address the issue of climate change was ours. We felt that it was high time that the balance was restored and that our obligations were commensurate with our responsibilities. The CEM is meant to bring a shift in awareness, especially in India, to the fact that climate change is a global collective action problem and cannot be solved merely by self-sacrifice. India is a part of the solution to climate change, but it is not the sole answer. A very incorrect idea is often floated —that those who are likely to feel the impact of climate change the most are obliged to do more by way of cutting emissions. Our data analysis and website are geared to debunking this false narrative.

Unfortunately, several small developing countries have either been misled or pressured into delivering huge emissions reductions, which in percentage terms are perhaps even more than that of some of the developed countries. We must remember that for developing nations, including India, development is an integral part of inter-generational equity. In the 75th year of Independence, we cannot forget the sacrifices that brought us here and the effort required to ensure a secure and sustainable future for the coming generations. Resilience and environmental sustainability are part of this future, but there is much more at stake for us.

Anxious for a change

Going by the by-election results in various states, it seems that it is not easy for the BJP to realise its dream of a Congress-mukt Bharat in the near future (Climate change? Himachal warms up to Cong, Nov 3). The results in Himachal and Bengal show clearly that the people are fed up and anxious for a change. In spite of the infighting in the Congress, it put up a spectacular performance in Rajasthan where the BJP candidates were pushed to the third and fourth places. In Bengal, the BJP candidates lost their deposits in three out of four seats. The verdict also show that the Congress is down but not out.
Dr M Haneef, Kottayam

Opposition gets a boost

The bypoll results are an indication of a possible change in the upcoming elections in 2022. The clean sweep by the Congress in Himachal and Trinamool in Bengal are indeed heavy blows to the BJP. Even though the ruling and opposition camps won an equal number of seats, the results would have raised the hopes of the Congress.

Protect bank executives

This is with reference to Balancing prompt decision-making with rooting out graft (Nov 3). I would like to express my appreciation over your balanced editorial. The arrest of the former chairman of the nation's largest commercial bank, that too years after relinquishing office, for a decision taken by the SBI's committee is unfortunate. I am afraid the judge who ordered the arrest has acted hastily without bothering to study the entire issue. I hope the Indian Banks' Association, RBI and finance ministry come out with detailed guidelines in the matter to protect bank executives from such harassment.
B C Unnikrishnan Nair, Kuthiathode

Focus on poor performance

Your editorial was full of praise for the Indian captain not for his on-field performance but for his off-field defence of his teammate (Doff your hat to Virat Kohli, Nov 3). It is expected of any captain to back his player, otherwise he is unfit to don the role. Social media can be crazy and a few comments there should not be taken seriously. However, the remarks by someone who was the former captain of Pakistan and his apology have been ignored. Instead of criticising the pathetic performance of the Indian team, the media is harping on some off-field events. By the way, our iconic captain is yet to win a single ICC tournament (and even an IPL).

Cricket transcends barriers

It is unfortunate that the police have registered cases against some Muslims in the country for the reason that they 'celebrated' Pakistan's victory over India in the ongoing T20 World Cup. Supporting your national cricket team is definitely not the litmus test for patriotism. Just as how music has no language, cricket, or for that matter any other sport, transcends caste, religion and national barriers.
R Sivakumar, Chennai

Irrational selection policy

Irrespective of whether Team India enacts a dramatic recovery act in the ongoing T20 World Cup or not, the selection policy so far to decide the playing eleven has seemed irrational (Recovery need of hour, Nov 3).
R Ashwin is one of the best spinners in the world, and he is a proven all-rounder too. Asking him to warm the bench is illogical and unjustifiable.

Death by a falling tree

We were shocked to learn that a woman police constable died after a tree fell on her at the TN Secretariat, right near the CM's special cell (Nov 3). We are residents of Poes Garden, and watch with fear as we pass a huge tilted tree that is just waiting to topple. We have informed the authorities, but got the response that "trees cannot be felled like that and there is a cutting protocol".

Congress workers cheer after the party's victory in Mandi Lok Sabha bypoll; the party couldn't perform well in many other states where the contest was multi-cornered | FILE

Bypoll results indicate weakening hold of Cong in regional bastions

Opposition parties can challenge BJP in 2024 LS election only if they form a united front

RICHA SHARMA @New Delhi

THE bypoll results may have been a face saver for the Congress but the party was not even in runner-up position in seats with multi-corner contest in West Bengal, Bihar, Assam and other northeast states, reflecting its weakening hold in states with strong regional players and need for a united front to defeat the BJP in 2024 Lok Sabha election.

The opposition parties are of the view that if they join hands in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls, the Congress should contest against the saffron party on seats where it is in direct fight and let the regional players contest more seats in states where they have a bigger base.

The Trinamool Congress that swept the by-election in West Bengal was quick to offer an olive branch to the grand old party after leaders from both parties were engaged in a war of words after the TMC said that it couldn't rely on the Congress for 2024 battle against the BJP. The Congress has questioned the TMC's intention to contest upcoming Goa Assembly elections.

"The mindset has to change — We are equal partners in the opposition. Let's work together on this, rather than talk down to us. There is no need to fight. Our single goal is to defeat the BJP," said TMC leader Derek O'Brien.

A senior Congress leader said West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee knows that a united front is not possible without the Congress as the latter is in direct fight with the BJP on 200-230 Lok Sabha seats.

The slow progress to make a united front is bothering several opposition leaders and this was also pointed out by the TMC when it said that it had waited for months to get a response from the Congress to work on a united front and later decided to expand its footprints in other states.

"There is no progress so far in formation of a united opposition front but for a few meetings that happened during the parliament session. We need to plan things at the earliest to take on the BJP, else things will be out of control and 2024 would also slip out of our hands," said an opposition leader, citing Bihar bypoll results where JD (U) won on both seats. He said the results could have been different if the RJD and Congress had put up a joint candidate.

DENGUE SURGE BEGINS TO BITE

HARPREET BAJWA, NAMITA BAJPAI, RAJESH ASNANI, ANURAAG SINGH & FAYAZ WANI @ Chandigarh/Lucknow/Jaipur/Bhopal/Srinagar

THE Centre has finally acknowledged the outbreak of dengue across nine states and UTs and has put out the number of affected people at 1,16,991 across the country. The affected states and UTs are Haryana, Kerala, Punjab, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Uttarakhand, Delhi and Jammu & Kashmir.

More than 120 people have died across north India — the worst affected being Punjab where 61 people have succumbed to the mosquito-borne viral disease. Rajasthan (26 deaths) and Uttar Pradesh (eight deaths) follow Punjab. Uttar Pradesh has a largest prevalence of the disease with the number touching 21,954, whereas in Punjab the figures are touching 17,000.

The Union Health Ministry has rushed teams to the nine states/UTs to support them in public health measures for control and management of the disease.

October witnessed a significantly higher number of cases in some states as compared to the number during the same period the previous year. As many as 15 states/UTs are reporting maximum cases in the current year; these states contribute 86% of the country's total dengue cases till October 31, the Union Health Ministry said.

Sources in the Punjab health department said that from Sept 30 to Oct 30, around 12,000 dengue cases were reported. The five worst affected districts are SAS Nagar followed by Bathinda, Hoshiarpur, Amritsar and Pathankot.

Dr Gagandeep Grover, Punjab's nodal officer for vector-borne diseases, said prolonged monsoon and an increase in testing have exposed the disease's spread. "The health department has collected 43,000 samples this year compared to just 18,000 last year," he said.

There were Covid and dengue co-infection cases as well. "A few such cases treated between January and July. After that no such case has been reported," said Dr Rajeev Bhaskar, nodal officer of Covid-19 in Punjab.

In Rajasthan, following a spike in dengue patients, there is no space in all major hospitals, including Jaipur's SMS Hospital. Dengue patients are being accommodated on the hospital ground. The demand for blood and platelets is rising.

Rajasthan Health Minister Dr Raghu Sharma said medical workers have been alerted about the sharp surge in dengue cases. "Medical workers' leave has been cancelled and house-to-house surveys are on," he added.

Such campaigns, however, have remained on paper. No fogging has taken place at many places in worst-hit Jaipur, Jhalawar, Alwar and Dholpur districts.

A report from Lucknow said Uttar Pradesh has recorded 21,954 dengue cases up to November 2. This is the highest number of the patients since 2015.

Health experts blame prolonged monsoon coupled with a combination of lowered herd immunity due to the Covid pandemic, virus transmission outside the home and an increase in the age of infection. The worst-hit areas in the state are central and western UP, and the Bundelkhand region. Hundreds of cases have been reported from Firozabad, along with Mathura, Kasganj, Agra, Farukhabad, Kanpur, Unnao, Lucknow and Sitapur.

Additional Chief Secretary, health, Amit Mohan Prasad has sought people's cooperation against mosquito breeding in their vicinity. "People should not panic and seek immediate medical intervention in case of fever, joint pain and fatigue," he said.

Assam, too, has recorded a sharp rise in dengue cases this year. The state has till Nov 2 recorded 60 cases, compared to 32 last year, with no death. Assam's National Health Mission (NHM) has attributed the high dengue cases to an extended summer, which was relatively hotter. October was the hottest in Assam in 50 years, and recorded nearly half of the cases. Rain too continues for a longer period.

"There is no treatment as such for all mosquito-borne diseases. Precautions and awareness among people are a must," said Dr Harpal Singh Suri of the NHM.

A senior health official in Madhya Pradesh said there are two factors for the spike in dengue cases: prolonged rain leading to accumulation of rainwater indoors and, second, the fully vaccinated for Covid became careless about the dengue outbreak, especially after the Covid daily numbers started declining from July.

The Union Health Ministry said those who get infected with dengue a second time are at a significantly greater risk of developing severe disease.

Symptoms include high fever, headache, rash and muscle and joint pain. In severe cases there is serious bleeding and shock, which can be life threatening.

Treatment includes fluids and pain relievers. Severe cases require hospital care.

Big crowds at rallies hardly convert into votes in Bihar

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

SURGING crowds at election rallies, especially in states like Bihar, are hardly a barometer of political temperature. It became clear when the results of the Assembly by-elections to Kusheshwar Asthan and Tarapur came on Nov 2.

Opposition RJD and Congress star campaigners had drawn huge crowds. However, this did not convert into votes. RJD chief Lalu Prasad campaigned in the bypolls after a gap of about six years. The result: the RJD candidate from Kusheshwar Asthan was defeated by the ruling JD-U by a margin of more than 12,000 votes. In Tarapur too, the JD-U won.

Congress leader Kanhaiya Kumar and others also campaigned for three days. In both constituencies, the Congress candidates forfeited their deposits.

The most striking similarity among Bihar's three eligible bachelor politicians — Chirag Paswan, Tejashwi Yadav and Kanhaiya Kumar — is that they draw crowds, but don't bring in votes.

"Theirs is a model of hurling loud accusations. Secondly, they are largely inaccessible to the common people," said an observer.

Sociologist Nirmal Kumar says states like Bihar, West Bengal and UP where you have a vast population suffering in poverty, the people generally go out to listen to big politicians at their rallies.

"Lalu, his son Tejashwi, Chirag Paswan, Kanhaiya Kumar and CM Nitish Kumar did well in campaigning. Even when Lalu threatened to do an 'immersion' (visarjan) of the Nitish government in the bypolls, Nitish simply countered by a well thought-after line: "He (Lalu) can do nothing except getting me killed, when he wants."

Nitish's one-liner refreshed the people's memories about the 15-year reign of 'jungle raj' of Lalu-Rabri," says Arun Kumar Pandey, a political analyst.

Pro-Marathi campaign, sympathy wave help Sena win Dadra LS seat

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

SHIV Sena's victory in the Dadra and Nagar Haveli Lok Sabha by-election is largely due to its pro-Marathi campaign.

Kalaben Delkar, widow of Mohan Delkar who was a seven-time MP from the constituency, won the bypoll by 51,269 votes against BJP's Maheshbai Gavit. Kalaben got 59.53% votes against Gavit's 33%. Mohan Delkar committed suicide earlier this year reportedly because he was upset with the local administration.

Dadra Nagar Haveli was a Portuguese-controlled region like Goa and was liberated in 1954 as it merged with India.

"In its liberation, Maharashtrian leaders such as Sudhir Phadke, Vishnupant More and Nana Kajarekar played a major role. Many Marathis migrated here later in search of work. It is an extended part of Maharashtra even though it keeps a separate identity. Gujarat is also close to us. So, both Maharashtra and Gujarat cultures have an influence over it," says Virendra Solanki, a local analyst.

Sanjay Singh, a political observer, says Shiv Sena had contested Lok Sabha elections from Dadra Nagar Haveli four times since 1992 to 2019, but failed all attempts. In 1996, its candidate Uttam Patel lost the election by a slender margin against Mohan Delkar.

"It was a victory for the Shiv Sena candidate, but at the last moment, Mohan Delkar emerged a winner. Now, history has repeated itself — Mohan Delkar's widow Kalaben has won the election," says Singh. "Shiv Sena should credit the Delkar family for its victory."

"The Delkars are well known. Kalaben drew sympathy, besides there was a huge anger against the UT administrator Praful Patel. Contractors from outside got the work at the cost of locals. It was a sort of referendum on Patel. Delkar's victory margin of over 51,000 votes is the highest," says Singh.

Solanki says most people of Dadra and Nagar Haveli are tribal and so is the Delkar family. "You cannot do politics there by sidelining the family. Mohan Delkar had severely criticised the administrator. That's why many BJP workers voted for his widow out of sympathy," Solanki says.

Fuel price cut will soften inflation: Experts

"THE Indian farmers have, through their hard work, kept the economic growth momentum going even during the lockdown phase and the massive reduction in excise on diesel will come as a boost to the farmers during the upcoming Rabi season," read a government circular.

On Wednesday, petrol price in Delhi stood at ₹110.04 a litre while diesel was sold for ₹98.42 per litre. Fuel prices in Kolkata were a tad higher at ₹110.49 for petrol and ₹101.56 for diesel, while in Mumbai the prices were even steeper at ₹115.85 and ₹106.62. In Chennai, petrol was sold at 106.66 a litre.

Experts welcomed the move saying it will help soften inflationary pressures.

"Given the relatively limited fiscal boost in recent months, this move remains a timely one that should support consumer and business confidence at this nascent stage of recovery," said Siddhartha Sanyal, chief economist at Bandhan Bank.

According to Mahesh Jaising, partner, Deloitte India, the duty cut will not only bring down fuel prices but also reduce costs through the supply chain as "excise duty is a non creditable cost for businesses". He added that the VAT levied by states, which is a percentage of the fuel price, should ideally see a reduction given the exclusion of excise from base price. He, however, added that it needs to be seen if states will follow suit and reduce local taxes as suggested by the Centre.

Data from the Controller General of Accounts in the Union finance ministry showed that excise duty collections during April-September 2021 surged to ₹1.71 lakh crore from ₹1.28 lakh crore in the same period of the previous fiscal and ₹95,930 crore during April-September 2019.

Bypoll fallout, claims Oppn

ENS @New Delhi

WHILE the Opposition termed the decision to cut excise duty on fuel as "too little, too late" and linked it to the BJP's reverses in the recent bypolls, the Centre sought to put them on the mat, saying Opposition-ruled states will now have to walk the talk on slashing VAT if they really care for the poor. While the Centre takes the excise duty call, VAT is in the domain of state governments.

The Congress complimented the people for showing the mirror of truth to the 'tax-parasitic' government. "In 2021, price of petrol was hiked by ₹28 and diesel by ₹26 a litre. After losing 14 by-elections and 2 Lok Sabhas, reducing petrol-diesel price by ₹5 & ₹10 is tom-tommed as 'Diwali Gift'," Congress spokesperson Surjewala said.

The Trinamool Congress was equally dismissive. "After months of causing hardship and pain to millions, excise duty on petrol and diesel was tweaked by stunt masters M&S," tweeted TMC leader Derek O'Brien. Left parties said the Centre was treating fuel price as a source of revenue. "Bypoll results clearly indicated popular mood against Modi and his government," said CPI general secretary D Raja.

Bengal bypolls drain BJP of previous gains, 'chastened' CPM less damaged

BJP'S PERFORMANCE IN FOUR ASSEMBLY SEATS IN 2021 ASSEMBLY POLLS AND BYPOLLS

SEAT	2021 Assembly polls	Bypolls
Dinhata	47.6%	11.33%
Shantipur	49.94%	23.22%
Khardah	33.67%	13.07%
Gosaba	41.88%	9.95%

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

THE inroads made by BJP in the two previous West Bengal polls, banking on the drain in the CPI(M)'s voter base, received a massive jolt in the by-elections after the same set of electorates shunned the saffron camp and changed their allegiance to the ruling TMC.

The BJP's vote-share in the bypolls dipped to around 13 per cent from 37 per cent in the recent Assembly elections, indicating that the electorates once having allegiance to CPI(M) and later to the BJP shifted their loyalty to TMC.

Surprisingly, there was no further erosion in CPI(M)'s vote-share of around 7 per cent that the party had secured in the recent Assembly polls which remained intact in the bypolls.

However, Congress bled badly in the bypoll battle as the national party's vote share came down below 1 per cent in the four constituencies.

In its so called north Bengal stronghold, the saffron camp had bagged Dinhata Assembly constituency with a vote-share of 47.6 per cent which dropped to 11.33 per cent in the bypoll. "It was unexpected. Though our candidate Nisith Pramanik, who is the MP of Cooch Behar and presently the Union minister for state, had a slender victory, we expected a tough battle between the BJP and the TMC. I never imagined that our loosing margin would be more than 1.64 lakh votes," admitted a BJP leader.

Leaders of the Bengal's ruling party said the CPI(M)'s lower rung leaders realised their strategy to derail Mamata Banerjee's government was faulty and rectified themselves in the bypolls. "In the 2021 Assembly elections, the Left Front joined hands with Congress and the newly formed Indian Secular Force (ISF) thinking they would take revenge for the 2011 debacle in which Bengal witnessed the end of LF's 34-year era. But they realised it would not be possible as majority of the state's electorate stood by us," said a TMC leader.

CPI(M) leader Rabin Deb said the party managed to keep its vote-bank intact because of its loyal supporters. "We secured around seven per cent votes in the recent Assembly elections. Those electorates were loyal supporters of our party, and in the by-elections they voted for our candidates," said Deb.

UP '22: BJP forms multi-layered election format

A team led by state leaders will form sub groups directly associated with the party

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

THE ruling BJP has set up a multi-layered organisational structure in poll-bound Uttar Pradesh to oversee monitoring and coordination of poll-related programmes in the days to come.

The format comprises two central teams and one from the state to be headed by party leaders who will form groups of people associated directly with the party and those who can help the party in the campaign. Senior leaders will hold meetings with each such group.

According to party's state unit president Swatantra Deo Singh, general secretaries incharge of the regional units of Awadh, Braj, Kashi (Varanasi), west UP, Kanpur and Gorakhpur have been tasked with streamlining the campaign.

National leaders, who will be part of the BJP's central election team, will look after the assigned regions. Union Minister of State (MoS) for Parliamentary Affairs Arjun Ram Meghwal will look after party's campaign in the Braj region while MoS for Agriculture Shobha Karandlaje will take care of Awadh. MoS for Education Annapurna Devi has been assigned Kanpur, while Rajya Sabha members Saroj Pandey and Vivek Thakur are in-charge of Varanasi and Gorakhpur divisions respectively.

Former Haryana minister Captain Abhimanyu, a Jat himself, will ready the ground in western UP by placating the Jat farmers in the wake of the ongoing protests against three farm laws.

Moreover, six co incharges are placed under BJP national vice-president Radha Mohan Singh, who is the central leader incharge of the party's state organisation. PM calls for micromanagement of Covid strategies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

IN a review meeting with officials from nearly 45 districts with low Covid vaccination coverage, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday asked authorities to prepare specific strategies with each village and town to take the inoculation level closer to the national average.

The meeting included districts with less than 50 per cent coverage of the first dose and also low inoculation coverage of the second dose. As of now, nearly 77 per cent of the adult population in India has received at least one dose of Covid vaccine but the percentage of population covered with double vaccinations is less than 33 per cent.

The PM interacted with the DMs of districts in Jharkhand, Manipur, Nagaland, Arunachal Pradesh, Maharashtra, Meghalaya, Chhattisgarh and Delhi. While he asked the officials to develop micro strategies keeping in mind the experience so far to go for saturation coverage of vaccination by addressing the gaps at local level, the PM also instructed the officials to make specific strategies for each village and every time. For this, he suggested that teams of 20-25 people can be formed and also directed authorities to prepare region-wise timetables for local goals.

'Tackle gap at local level'

PM Narendra Modi urges officials representing districts with less than 50 per cent vaccine coverage to address the gaps at local level. He spoke about the issue of rumours and misunderstandings around vaccination

A government statement said that the PM spoke about the issue of rumours and misunderstandings about vaccination and suggested that that awareness is the only solution for this, asking the officials to take help from religious leaders. Religious leaders are very enthusiastic about the vaccination campaign, he said urging for a special emphasis on taking their message to the public.

The PM also stressed on the need to move from making arrangements for taking people to the vaccination centre safely to administering the jabs door-to-door. Asking the health workers to reach every house with the slogan "Har ghar tika, ghar ghar tika" (vaccine at every doorstep), the PM asked them to adopt the spirit of "Har Ghar Dastak" or knocking on every doorstep.

"With the mantra of "Har Ghar Dastak" (knocking on every door), every household lacking the security net of a double dose of vaccine must be provided with it," he added.

RIGHTS PANEL SEEKS GOVT REPORT ON TRIPURA VIOLENCE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE National Human Rights Commission on Wednesday directed the Tripura government to file a detailed report within four weeks on the violence against Muslims in the state. The rights panel passed the order on a complaint filed by the National Spokesperson of All India Trinamool Congress (AITC) and Social Activist, Saket Gokhale who raised the issue of rising incidents of political violence and communal violence against Muslims in Tripura.

The complaint alleges that the state machinery "acted like a bystander by siding with the violent mob". Seeking NHRC's intervention in the matter, Gokhale said there is an atmosphere of immense fear amongst the members of the minority community in the affected area with regard to their life and safety.

The post Durga Puja violence against Hindus in Bangladesh has found disturbing resonance in Tripura. The last few days have seen violent protests in the capital Agartala and other towns by the VHP and Hindu Jagran Manch, many of which have reportedly turned into mobilisations against local Muslims and also led to vandalisation of mosques.

Gokhale, in his complaint, also alleged that the workers of ruling party of the state had attacked leaders of All India Trinamool Congress while they were campaigning in the state and during such incidents of political violence, one of the sitting Members of Parliament and other workers of AITC sustained injuries, their vehicle were vandalized and belongings were stolen.

Pertinently, the Tripura High Court has taken suo moto cognizance of the issue of violence in North Tripura District, Unakoti District as well as Sipahijala District and has called upon the state to file a detailed response by November 10.

Taking cognizance of the complaint, the NHRC directed the Tripura government's Chief Secretary and the state's Director-General of Police to submit an action taken report within a period of four weeks. "The concerned authorities have also been asked to intimate the Commission if any notice, order, etc., has been received by him/them in the instant matter from the State Human Rights Commission. If yes, a copy of such order be also sent to the Commission within four weeks," the commission said.

Premier trains to Guwahati go fully electric

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

ON the eve of Diwali, the Railways achieved a major feat to facilitate the faster run of prestigious trains like the Rajdhani, the Tejas-Rajdhani and others from the northeast to New Delhi on the seamless electric tractions faster than earlier.

This has been possible now with the completion of electrification of 647 km of rail route between Katihar in Bihar and Guwahati. The Railways now switch over the Rajdhani, the Tejas-Rajdhani and other superfast trains to run from northeast states to New Delhi on electric traction.

From October, the North Frontier zone of the Railways has already started running the Brahmaputra Mail on the electric traction from October 22 after the completion of electrification.

Rajiv Jain, additional director general (PR), Railways, said that Guwahati will now be directly connected with big cities like Mumbai, Delhi and Chennai, on 25KV AC railway traction. Outlining the economic benefits, he said that the railways will have a net saving on forex reserves to the tune of ₹300 crore per year following a reduction in consumption of 3,400 kl of High Speed Diesel (HSD) oil per month.

"Greenhouse gas emission will also fall reducing the carbon footprint," he said.

No more evidence against Deshmukh: Ex top cop

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

FORMER Mumbai police commissioner Param Bir Singh submitted an affidavit to Maharashtra government-appointed probe commission that he has no further evidence to substantiate his ₹100 crore collection allegations against former state home minister Anil Deshmukh

Param Bir Singh said that he had no other evidence apart from his letter to chief minister Uddhav Thackeray against Anil Deshmukh. The submission was made to Justice K U Chandiwal Commission at its previous hearing on October 13.

The reveal came two days after the ED – based on a CBI FIR over Singh's allegations – questioned and arrested Deshmukh, who is now in the agency's custody till November 6.

As per the affidavit, Param-bir Singh does not want to be cross-examined by a person in this case now. "Whatever Singh wanted to disclose that has been disclosed to Supreme Court and Maharashtra chief minister, he had no further to add. He does not intent to make any submission before the commission now," reads the affidavit submitted by the former police officer's advocate.

Incidentally, Deshmukh's lawyer Aniket Nikam said, "It's now clear that Singh had no proof against the ex-minister and simply hurled the allegations for the sake of it."

NCP spokesperson Mahesh Tapase repeatedly has claimed that Parambir Singh's letter is politically motivated. "Now, our suspect has been established that BJP used Mr Singh to level allegations against former home minister Anil Deshmukh to malign his, party and government's image.

Akhilesh ties up with uncle Shivpal for 2022

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

SAMAJWADI Party (SP) president and former Uttar Pradesh CM Akhilesh Yadav on Wednesday formed an alliance with his estranged uncle Shivpal Yadav for the upcoming state elections.

Shivpal had floated Pragatisheel Samajwadi Party Lohia (PSPL) in September 2018 after quitting the SP following differences with patriarch Mulayam Singh Yadav. A veteran leader, Shivpal caused a major dent to the prospects of SP in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls by splitting the Yadav votes though his party could not win a seat.

Political observers say the infighting in the Yadav clan resulted in the poor performance of the SP in the 2017 Assembly elections. Akhilesh hopes a united SP, aided by small regional parties, will be able to defeat the BJP in the 2022 polls.

Shivpal, an ambitious leader eyeing the top post in the party as well as the CM's chair, fell out of favour with his brother Mulayam after Akhilesh took over the reins of the partyin 2017.

Experts, however, say the coming together of Shivpal and Akhilesh may not guarantee a clean sweep for SP in the polls though it would improve the party's performance significantly. According to political scientist Prof A K Mishra, Shivpal's party has not been doing well since its inception. However, if both Shivpal and Akhilesh come together then the SP's strength will rise, he added.

Jharkhand Police bans combat outfits usage

To rule out any confusion between Maoists and villagers, Jharkhand police has banned combat uniforms, used by the security forces, for the common people. According to a notification issued by Jharkhand Police HQ, since combat uniforms are also used largely by hard-core Maoists, it creates a sense of confusion among the security forces during anti-Maoist operations making it difficult for them to differentiate between a Maoist and a common man. The notification issued by IG (Operations) to all IGs, DIGs, SSPs, SPs, directs them take proper action to ensure that people do not wear combat uniforms in their areas and inform police headquarters. Senior Police officials welcomed the decision saying that it would help security forces to rule out the confusion between a Maoist and a common man.

After 18 days of frantic search, Aus police locate missing four-year-old

PERTH

A four-year-old Australian girl abducted from a campsite 18 days ago was discovered "alive and well" during a raid on a locked house Wednesday, telling her shocked and elated rescuers: "My name is Cleo."

Cleo Smith disappeared from her family's tent in remote Western Australia last month, sparking a frantic air, sea and ground search involving 100 officers and scores of volunteers.

Many feared the search would end in tragedy, but after a night raid on a home in the coastal town of Carnarvon — just a short drive from where she disappeared — police announced the little girl had been found alive, but alive.

"One of the guys jumped in front of me and picked her up," said detective Cameron Blaine, one of the four rescuers who entered the house around 1.00 am (1700 GMT Tuesday).

Blaine said that after the initial shock he asked the little girl her name three times before receiving her electrifying response: "My name is Cleo."

Police admitted "seasoned detectives" were "openly crying with relief" at the discovery and when Cleo was reunited with her parents at a hospital a short time later.

Her mother Ellie took to social media to express her relief. "Our family is whole again," she posted on Instagram under a photo of Cleo. Police later released an image of the beaming youngster on a hospital bed holding an ice pop, waving and smiling.

Officers said she was in good spirits and bouncing around like "a little energiser bunny."

"It's very rare. It's something we all hoped in our hearts, and it's come true," police deputy commissioner Col Blanch said. A 36-year-old local man has been detained and is said to be assisting with enquiries. He is expected to be charged later Wednesday. Ellie Smith had earlier described her distress at waking at 6:00 am to find the family's tent unzipped and her oldest daughter missing.

Her public pleas for help bringing Cleo home had prompted an outpouring of support from across Australia.

After the news broke, the usually quiet streets of Carnarvon, which boasts a population of about 4,500, were quickly filled with pink balloons and "welcome back" signs. "There were tears in the eyes of many around town today. We are all so excited and happy, everyone just wanted Cleo back with her parents," Carnarvon resident Julee Nelson told reporters. "It has been a very painful period... everyone will be celebrating long and hard today."

It is believed the abduction was unplanned and "opportunistic". The suspect was not on a local list of sex offenders and only became a person of interest a day ago. AFP

Focus shifts to funding climate action

UK promises fresh financing to help poor countries, urges rich nations to cough out more

GLASGOW

FOCUS at the COP26 summit turned on Wednesday to how the world will pay for its ambitions to quit fossil fuels and help vulnerable nations survive climate change, as campaigners urged caution over promises of billions from financiers and governments.

Negotiators are tasked with using the remaining days of the Glasgow meeting to try to keep the Paris Agreement goal of limiting warming to 1.5 degrees Celsius within reach, after a world leaders' summit yielded a landmark deal slashing methane emissions.

But a simmering diplomatic spat between the United States, China and Russia over their climate action ambitions showed the fragile nature of talks aimed at averting disastrous global heating.

With funding crucial for turning climate pledges into reality, hundreds of financial groups representing trillions in private capital made net-zero pledges on Wednesday, while British Chancellor Rishi Sunak said that COP26 would deliver on a decade-old promise to help poorer countries cope with climate change. "We know that you've been devastated by the double tragedies of Covid and climate change," he told the conference.

Sunak said that while the UK government is providing fresh financing to help poor countries cope with climate change, "public investment alone isn't enough." Speaking at the UN climate summit, he said UK financial institutions and publicly traded companies will be required to publish plans detailing how green their investments and their own businesses are in order to ensure they're actually contributing to reductions in global warming.

As home to the City of London, one of the world's major financial centers, the UK "has a responsibility to lead the way" in financing those and other efforts to fight global warming, said Sunak. The push for greener investments also represents a major opportunity. The measure is part of a plan that aims to create "the world's first net-zero aligned financial center" to meet the demands of those seeking to profit from the drive toward a low-carbon economy, Sunak said.

Delays in the funding, which missed its 2020 target, have reopened tensions between vulnerable nations, often the least responsible for emissions, and polluting wealthy nations.

Fiji's Economy Minister Aiyaz Sayed-Khaiyum said developing nations were expected to "suck it up", adding it was still unclear in what form the money would come in.

"Climate finance in 2021 is as volatile as the strengthening storms that rip through the fabric of our economy year in year out," he told the conference.

The private sector is ratcheting up its climate pledges, with a coalition of 450 banks, insurers and pension funds with $130 trillion in assets announcing they would help countries achieve carbon neutrality by 2050. Former Bank of England governor Mark Carney said the Glasgow Financial Alliance for Net Zero would finally provide the capital flows needed after years of broken promises from rich emitters. Agencies

European Parliament delegation led by French MEP Raphael Glucksmann (C) welcomed by Taiwan's deputy foreign minister Harry Tseng (R)

European lawmakers meet Taiwan premier in first visit

TAIPEI

EUROPEAN Union parliamentarians met with Taiwan's premier on Wednesday in the first official visit of an EU delegation to the self-ruled island, which is also claimed by China.

Thirteen members of the EU committee on foreign interference in democratic processes are visiting Taiwan, after the European Parliament passed a resolution last month calling for the body to "intensify EU-Taiwan political relations."

"Although we are geographically very far away, between our two sides, we share the same values, such as freedom, democracy, human rights and rule of law. ... In those regards, we are actually very close," Taiwan's Premier Su Tseng-chang said. The European delegation will also meet President Tsai Ing-wen and Digital Minister Audrey Tang, and visit Taiwanese think tanks, NGOs and others working on countering disinformation.

The visit comes amid growing support for the democratic island, which China claims as part of its territory to be annexed by force if necessary, and rising negative perceptions toward Beijing in Western countries. "The flourishing of your democracy is formidable and this is why we are so happy to be here," said Raphael Glucksmann, the chair of the foreign interference committee.

"You have shown that in this region democracy can flourish." Lithuania, an EU member, accepted Taiwan's request.

Imran unveils Rs 120 billion package for poor

ISLAMABAD

PRIME Minister Imran Khan on Wednesday announced a whopping Rs 120 billion package for the poor families to buy three essential items of daily use at cheaper rates, describing it as "the biggest welfare programme in Pakistan's history".

Under the subsidy programme, eligible families will be able to purchase wheat flour, ghee and pulses at 30 per cent lower prices for the next six months. Khan said that his government had allocated "Rs 120 billion to help 20 million families to buy flour, pulses and ghee 30 per cent cheaper for the next six months".

Calling the subsidy as the 'biggest welfare program in Pakistan's history', he said it was a step to make Pakistan a truly welfare state as it would benefit 130 million people across the country. He said that the subsidy was in addition to the Rs 260 billion Ehsas program which was already underway to provide cash support to the 12 million poor families.

Khan also announced that 4 million poor families will be given interest free loan under Kamyab Pakistan Program. PTI

Virginia Republican gubernatorial candidate Glenn Youngkin throws an autographed basketball into the crowd at an election-night rally in Chantilly | AP

Republicans win Virginia Governor poll

ALEXANDRIA

THE Republican candidate pulled off a stunning upset to win the governor's mansion in the US state of Virginia on Wednesday, US television networks projected, in a race seen as an early verdict on President Joe Biden's first year in office.

Newcomer Glenn Youngkin was 2.7 points ahead of Democrat Terry McAuliffe in the neck-and-neck tussle shortly after midnight, with more than 95 per cent of the vote counted, prompting NBC, CNN and ABC to call the election for the Republican.

A harbinger of the parties' prospects in next year's midterm elections, the race was initially expected to be a comfortable Democratic win but instead became a toss-up in the closing days of the campaign.

A private equity multi-millionaire who has never run for office defeating a former popular Democratic governor will be seen as a disaster for Biden going into the all-important 2022 races that will determine who controls Congress.

Calling his victory a "defining moment," he told the crowd: "Together, we will change the trajectory of this commonwealth. We are going to start that transformation on day one." The election, a neck-and-neck tussle for weeks, resonated nationwide as a proxy war between Biden and Donald Trump, who gave Youngkin his early backing.

Youngkin's campaign will now likely become a blueprint for Republicans across the country as they strategize on how to leverage Trump's base while avoiding becoming tainted by his toxic brand among moderates in the midterms.

Suspected terror tunnel found near diplomat's house

TUNIS

AN anti-terrorism raid in Tunisia uncovered a tunnel being dug in the vicinity of the French ambassador's residence from a house frequented by a known extremist, the Interior Ministry said in a statement on Wednesday.

The ministry's statement did not indicate the tunnel's purpose or whether the ambassador's residence was a target. It said anti-terrorism officials and prosecutors were investigating.

A tip-off alerted security services to suspicious activity at the house in La Marsa, a coastal suburb of the Tunisian capital, Tunis, where the French ambassador also lives, the Interior Ministry said.

A subsequent raid uncovered the tunneling. The ministry statement didn't say how close the house is to the French ambassador's residence. A known extremist is among people who frequented the house that was raided, the ministry said. It did not say if there were any arrests.

The French Embassy said it had no comment. The street outside the ambassador's residence was calm Wednesday morning. It comes at a time of Islamists are seething with anger against France over President Emmanuel Macron's defence of a caricature of Prophet Muhammad.

In Pakistan, thousands of supporters of an outlawed Islamist party staged violent protests in recent weeks demanding the expulsion of France's envoy to Pakistan over publication of caricatures of Islam's Prophet Muhammad in France.

The protest march saw supporters clash with police at several points along the way.

ASIA MATTERS

Govt to sell surplus electricity to India

For the first time, Nepal will sell its surplus electricity to India at a competitive rate after New Delhi allowed the neighbouring country to trade its power in the Indian power exchange market, according to officials here on Wednesday. The Energy Exchange under India's Power Ministry on Monday granted permission to Nepal after persistent lobbying from Kathmandu, as Nepal Electricity Authority (NEA) is now in a position to sell its surplus energy. "Through continuous efforts at the political, diplomatic and administrative levels, we are allowed to sell surplus electricity," said Minister for Energy.

About 37,000 people, including women and children, are now displaced in Myanmar's restive northwest and many have fled their homes in anticipation of the current fighting, including into India, a spokesperson for UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres said. The UN team in Myanmar "remains deeply concerned over the recent escalation in fighting in the northwest between the Myanmar Military and the local Popular Defence Forces in Chin State, as well as Magway and Sagaing regions," Associate Spokesperson for the Secretary-General Florencia Soto Nino said at the daily press briefing.

21 STATES HAVE FLAGGED A NEGATIVE NET BALANCE

₹73,000 cr Initial Budget allocations for MGNREGA in 2021-22

₹1.11 lakh cr Allocation under revised Budget estimates

₹64,000 cr Already released and exhausted by several states

Govt mulling 30% hike in allocation for MGNREGA

To ask for supplementary demand in winter session of parliament

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

AFTER many states flagged shortage of funds under Mahatma Gandhi National Rural Employment Guarantee Scheme (MGNREGA), the Centre is considering increasing the allocation by 30% and it may ask for extra allocation under the next supplementary demand during winter session of the parliament.

"The Centre is already considering request from the Rural Development Ministry for additional allocation under MGNREGA scheme. We are looking for 30% additional allocation. If required, the supplementary demand may be raised during the next winter session," a senior finance ministry official told TNIE.

Allocations for MGNREGA scheme stood at ₹73,000 crore in 2021-22. This amount was higher than the Budget estimates for the previous year, but it was 35% lower than the revised estimates of ₹1.11 lakh crore.

According to the sources in the financial ministry, out of the budgetary allocation under the scheme, ₹64,000 crore were already released. This amount was already exhausted by many states. Finance ministry has already directed to release the additional amount.

The matter was highlighted on October 29, following reports that the Centre's flagship rural employment scheme has run out of funds halfway through the financial year, adding that MGNREGA expenditure including payments due had already reached ₹79,810 crore, with 21 states showing a negative net balance.

"There is no controversy. We are not holding on funds. Last year the allocation was lower at ₹61,500 crore but following the lockdown government had released additional budget, raising it to ₹1.11 lakh crore. But that was exceptional year. This year also we are committed to raise allocation if demand require and are working to make for higher allocation," the official clarified. According to the latest data released by the Controller General of Accounts (CGA) last week, the Centre has contained its fiscal deficit at 35% of the Bbudget target by the first half of this fiscal year, on account of robust tax collection, as its net tax receipts rose 101% on year to ₹9.2 lakh crore or 59.6% of FY22BE.

ADDITIONAL AMOUNT TO BE RELEASED SOON

Out of the budgetary allocation under the scheme, ₹64,000 crore were already released. This amount was already exhausted by many states. Finance ministry has already directed to release the additional amount.

Oct services growth fastest in decade

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

INDIA'S service industry made a smart recovery in October expanding at the fastest pace in a decade on account of improved domestic demand, the latest IHS Markit Services Purchasing Managers' Index survey revealed.

The IHS Markit Services Purchasing Managers' Index accelerated to 58.4 last month from 55.2 in September, above the 50-mark separating growth from contraction for a third straight month.

"Indeed, new work intakes increased at a sharp and accelerated rate, the strongest since July 2011. Moreover, the latest upturn was the third in successive months. Survey participants commonly linked sales growth to better underlying demand and successful marketing," the survey said.

However input prices remained high rising sharply last month due to higher fuel and commodity prices and this has pushed companies to pass on some of the extra cost burden to customers.

"A substantial rise in prices charged for the provision of services in India had no detrimental impact on demand, as companies signalled the strongest monthly expansion in new business in over a decade," said Pollyanna De Lima, economics associate director at IHS Markit.

Prices charged rose at the sharpest rate since July 2017, suggesting inflation will remain elevated, with the biggest upturn in transport and storage costs as a consequence of the recent surge in global crude prices to near $85 a barrel.

"Service providers were concerned that persistent inflationary pressures could deter growth in the coming year," De Lima said.

And despite the growth, business confidence remained subdued due to growing concerns surrounding price pressures.

Elsewhere, the latest data continued to point to weak international demand for Indian services. New export business decreased in October, a trend that has been recorded since the Covid outbreak. Expansion in manufacturing and services drove the composite index to a near 10-yr high of 58.7 in October from 55.3 in September.

Cairn signs tax refund deal with India

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

AFTER days of assessment, Britain's Cairn Energy said on Wednesday it had entered into a tax refund deal with the Indian government, which would allow the company to get its refund worth ₹7,900 crore while it will end all the pending disputes with the government.

In a statement, the company said it has "entered into undertakings with the government of India in order to participate in the scheme introduced by recent Indian legislation, the Taxation Laws (Amendment) Bill 2021, allowing the refund of taxes previously collected from Cairn in India. This will mean the company will get refund of ₹7,900 crore. "Subject to certain conditions, the Taxation Amendment Act nullifies the tax assessment originally levied against Cairn in January 2016 and orders the refund of ₹7,900 crore (approximately $ 1.06bn), which was collected from Cairn in respect of that assessment. In order to satisfy those conditions, Cairn will commence the filing of the necessary documentation under rule 11UF(3) of the Indian Income Tax Rules 1962 (Rules) intimating the withdrawal, termination and/or discontinuance of various enforcement actions," Cairn said.

In exchange, the UK-based company will drop litigations seeking seizure of India's assets in countries ranging from France to the UK and has given undertakings indemnifying the Indian government against future claims as well as agreeing to drop any legal proceedings anywhere in the world.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Centre on Wednesday said it has released GST compensation of ₹17,000 crore to states. Maharashtra will receive the highest GST compensation of ₹3053.6 cr, followed by Karnataka (₹1602.06 cr), Gujarat (₹1428.42 crore), Tamil Nadu (₹1314.42 cr), and Delhi (₹1155.09 crore).

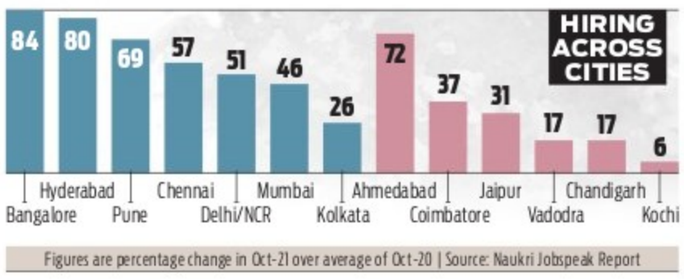
Metros see hiring; unemployment rises in rural India

SAMIKSHA GOEL @ New Delhi

EVEN as the hiring picks up in metro cities in the country owing to festive demand, the joblessness rate continues to rise in rural India.

Hiring in India grew by 43% year-on-year (Y-O-Y) in October 2021, according to the latest Naukri JobSpeak report. The Centre for Monitoring of Indian Economy (CMIE), however, says India's unemployment rate spiked to 7.75% in October from 6.86% a month ago.

The CMIE data shows, while urban joblessness rate fell to 7.38%, lowest in three months, the rural joblessness rate rose to its four-month high of 7.91% in October. Growth of the IT-software/software services sector has enabled metro cities to outperform their tier - II counterparts in the annual growth charts, the Naukri report says.



Figures are percentage change in Oct-21 over average of Oct-20 | Source: Naukri Jobspeak Report

The average Y-O-Y growth recorded in metro cities was 59% whereas non-metros grew at a slower pace of 30%, it shows.

Demand for tech professionals witnessed a whopping 85% Y-O-Y growth in October 2021. This demand in metros is driven by the upcoming launch of 5G coupled with the government's production linked incentive scheme (PLI) and the recent relief packages for the sector.

Yeshab Giri, Chief Commercial Officer, Staffing & RT Professionals, Randstad India, says the rise in urban employment is due to an increase in demand for temporary and permanent staff to meet seasonal demand for a busy festive season across sectors like e-commerce, logistics, start-ups and food & beverages.

'COMPETITION GOOD FOR USED CAR MARKET'

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

AMID growing competition in the used car market space, Ashutosh Pandey, CEO and MD of multi-brand certified used car company Mahindra First Choice Wheels (MFC), told TNIE that entry of newer players is a welcome sign for them and the industry since it increases the share of organised players.

At present, organised players roughly account for only 20% of the total volume, estimated at around 4 million units this fiscal, while 80% of the sales in this industry take place via unorganised players such as unregistered dealers and mom and pop stores.

"The market share game happens when the industry starts maturing. We are at a stage where there are only 4-5 of us. The game right now is not snatching market share. It is more now who can grow the fastest," said Pandey.

His statement comes at a time when the used car market has seen an influx of heavily funded new age start-ups such as Cars24, Droom and Ola Cars. Ola, which entered this domain last month, had announced it is eyeing a market leadership position with $2 billion gross merchandise value for its vehicle commerce platform Ola Cars over the next 12 months.

Pandey, however, is confident of maintaining a lead as the company has a pan-India reach with 1,200 outlets and a growing digital channel.

"MFC is the largest player in the organised market with a 10% share. We sell the largest number of vehicles to end-consumers, dealers and brokers. In terms of sheer volume, no one is close to us," he said.

This fiscal MFC expects to sell 225,000-250,000 vehicles while in the next 2 to 2 and a half years, they aim to touch the 500,000 mark. Industry size is also expected to grow from 4 million units this fiscal to 7.5-8 million units by 2025.

The market share game happens when the industry starts maturing. We are at a stage where there are only 4-5 of us. The game right now is not snatching market share. It is more now who can grow the fastest

Ashutosh Pandey, CEO and MD, MFC

When asked if shortage of semiconductors, which has increased the waiting period of new cars, is fueling the current growth, Pandey said it may be a small reason but not the real reason. He says that for some new models, people are happy to wait 8-10 months, meaning they are not moving to whatever is available. "Used cars have now become an available option and not a 'compromise'.

Growing preference for personal mobility during the pandemic period, cars getting younger and lower interest rate in generating demand," Pandey said, adding that MFC registered growth of 40% Year-on-Year this festive season and delivered 1,028 units on a single day in Dhanteras.

Djokovic shakes off rust with win at Paris Masters

In his first singles match since missing out on a calendar-year Grand Slam, Novak Djokovic beat Marton Fucsovics 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 in the second round of the Paris Masters. Also Tuesday, Felix Auger-Aliassime stayed in contention for a place at the ATP Finals by beating Italian qualifier Gianluca Mager 4-6, 6-4, 6-1 in the first round.

Lone applicant Dravid confirmed as India's head coach

VENKATA KRISHNA B @Chennai

IT is official. Rahul Dravid has been appointed as the head coach of the India men's team and will take charge of the side starting with the home series against New Zealand beginning on November 17. The development isn't a surprise. From the moment it emerged that the top brass of the BCCI convinced the former India captain to take the job, he was always going to be the front-runner. However, he still had to go through the process of applying for the job and appear for an interview before the Cricket Advisory Committee (CAC).

That it was going to be academic was a given. And it has played out that way as the deadline for the applicants ended on October 26, Dravid happened to be the lone applicant. Since there was no competition, the CAC comprising Sulakshana Naik and RP Singh appointed Dravid as Ravi Shastri's successor. "Under Shastri, the team has done very well, and I hope to work with the team to take this forward. Having worked closely with most of the boys either at NCA, U19 and India A setup, I know they have the passion and desire to improve every day. There are some marquee multi-team events in the next two years, and I look forward to working with the players and the support staff to achieve our potential," Dravid said in a statement.

Since retirement, Dravid has been handling the India Under-19 and India A teams and has also coached Rajasthan Royals and Delhi Capitals in the IPL. Ever since it became clear that Shastri wouldn't seek an extension, Dravid, who was the head of cricket at the National Cricket Academy, was seen as the ideal replacement as Team India enters a transition period across all formats.

In that way, there isn't a better candidate than Dravid as he has first-hand experience of overseeing the development of several young players including the likes of Rishabh Pant, Ishan Kishan, Washington Sundar, Prithvi Shaw and Shubman Gill who all will form the core of the team going forward. While they have done admiringly well in the Tests, their middle-order is in need of some attention.

However, it is the limited-overs where India need surgery. With 20-over and 50-over World Cups lined up in 2022 and 2023, India's focus is on building a title-winning squad. At the moment, they are way behind England when it comes to white-ball cricket and are in need of course correction in the 50-overs format. In T20Is despite having the resources, India have not been able to put a formidable team. There are already indications that a new-look team comprising youngsters will be built beginning with the New Zealand series at home.

FINALLY, AN OASIS IN THE DESERT

Batters marry intent with execution as India register 66-run victory over Afghanistan

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @Chennai

THE stakes couldn't have been any higher for India. A loss and they could have packed their bags. A win with a small margin and they could have proceeded to check for any last minute saver deals on carriers. A 66-run win over Afghanistan on Wednesday at least keeps them in the conversation for a few more days.

For that, they will have to have thank their regular openers, Rohit Sharma and KL Rahul, and the power-hitting cavalry of Hardik Pandya and Rishabh Pant. The platform laid by 1 and 2 before the finishing thrust by 3 and 4, helped them to 210, the biggest total by a side in this year's World Cup. In reply, Afghanistan tried to launch an offensive but ultimately spluttered to 144. The pick of the Indian bowlers were Mohammed Shami (3/32) and the returning Ravichandran Ashwin, in his first T20I since 2017, who picked 2/14.

The prelude, though, began predictably. Virat Kohli lost the toss again, the 12th time that he has lost it in the 13 times. Mohammed Nabi, after taking into cognisance the dew, invited India to set a target.

And set a target, they did. Needing a big total keeping in mind the net run rate side of things — they began the day at -1.60, well below Afghanistan's (3.09) — Rohit and Rahul went about their business at the top like two batters intent on smashing the ball to all parts (the day ended with India on 0.07 and Afghanistan on 1.4). Against Pakistan and New Zealand, the top-order was circumspect and clueless, got their execution all wrong and paid the price. Against Afghanistan, they showed they had learned from those lessons: 28 dots and 27 boundaries. It was aided by some butter-fingered Afghan fielding. The attacking thrust, though, was tangible.

It was in evidence from the eighth ball of the innings. Sharafuddin Ashraf's left-arm spin was lapped behind square by Rohit before Rahul cleared his front leg to despatch him down the ground for the first of India's 10 sixes in the match. Both Pakistan as well as New Zealand's left-arm spinners kept India's right-handers bogged down. In all, Imad Wasim and Mitchell Santner gave away just 25 runs in their six overs.

Ashraf's first over itself went for 16. To be fair, even the others weren't much better. Take Rashid Khan for instance. He builds pressure by bowling dot after dot. On Wednesday night, he bowled just four, going for 36 runs in the process. Whatever Rohit and Rahul tried, it came off. They charged him, came down the wicket, upset his rhythm and, importantly, looked to score. There was none of this 'let's play him out and look to take on the others'. Two back-to-back sixes of him by Sharma, both off wrong'ns, on the leg side were two of several highlights. At the death, Pant and Pandya — whose presence at 3 and 4 in itself spoke volumes about the team's aggression after two matches of passivity — provided some fireworks on the eve of Deepavali. Their unbroken third-wicket stand was worth 63 runs off 22 balls (5x6, 5x4). hey need more of the same to have a chance of advancing to the semifinals.

Brief scores: India 210/2 in 20 ovs (Rahul 69, Sharma 74) bt Afghanistan 144/7 in 20 ovs (Janat 42 n.o, Shami 3/32, Ashwin 2/14).

SURVIVAL AT STAKE

Australia can put pressure on South Africa while West Indies will look to keep its dying embers shine bright for a few more days at least. A look at Thursday's World Cup matches

AUSTRALIA vs BANGLADESH

TIME FOR NRR CATCHUP

With Australia's NRR being worse than South Africa, this represents an ideal opportunity for them to make some inroads. Considering they need a significant boost and their remaining game being against West Indies, this is their one chance to pull in the Proteas.

TOP-ORDER RESHUFFLE

This could also be a match to give someone like Josh Inglis — a very good hitter against spin — a go. Australia's top-order hasn't exactly caught fire so now would be the perfect time to bring in something different into that line-up.

WEST INDIES vs SRI LANKA

DOOR DIE FOR CHAMPIONS

Sri Lanka are already out and if the defending champions, West Indies, need to stay alive, they need to not only win but big. While that style of play suits them, they could leave themselves open to what transpired against England when they were bowled out for a paltry 55.

LAST CHANCE FOR HASARANGA

With the IPL auction coming up, this is the last chance for Wanindu Hasaranga to showcase his wares on the world stage. The likes of Charith Asalanka and he have been two bright spots for them and they will look to finish on a high.

GUPTILL'S BLAZING 93 SETS UP NZ'S 16-RUN WIN OVER SCOTLAND

DUBAI: Opener Martin Guptill's blistering 56-ball 93, which was built around monstrous sixes and authoritative batting, set up a 16-run win for New Zealand over a spirited Scotland in the T20 World Cup here on Wednesday. In all, Guptill smashed seven sixes and six fours as New Zealand posted 172 for five in the Group 2 Super 12 match. Scotland replied with 156 for five in their allotted 20 overs at the Dubai International Cricket Stadium. Michael Leask blazed away to an unbeaten 42 off 20 balls, but his effort was not enough for the Scots. Asked to bat first, New Zealand were off to a brisk start with Guptill leading the way. Brief scores: New Zealand 172/5 in 20 ovs (Guptill 93, Sharif 2/28, Wheal 2/40) beat Scotland 156/5 in 20 ovs (Leask 42 n.o, Boult 2/29).

Two trials but still no probables for TN team

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

TWO selection trials but until now there is no sign of a list of probables for the Santosh Trophy zonal round football tournament. Whereas most of the states are on verge of finalising their teams, Tamil Nadu are yet to even announce the list of 40 or the 60. Even the players are in the dark. The Santosh Trophy Zonal rounds start later this month.

The first trials were held at Loyola College on October 13-15 and about 45 probables were selected. The second one was held at Gateway International school on OMR from October 29 to 31. Even the players who attended the trials are baffled.

"We attended the trials at OMR," said a senior TN player. "We are yet to know who all are selected. We hope to get a clear picture after Diwali. If the team is announced this week we may have a camp from Monday." The player was part of the OMR trials.

According to Tamil Nadu Associaiton, about 65 players were supposed to be short-listed after the two trials. Interestingly, after the first trial the TNFA had sent letters to various district units to send two players each for the second trials at OMR.

Many players complained that they found it difficult to go all the way from the city to OMR for the trials. Players from outside the city suffered more as they also had to take care of the boarding and lodging expenses. Some coaches also felt few players could not make it to the second phase of the selection trials due to the distance.

Domestic T20 season in focus ahead of mega IPL auction

ASHIM SUNAM @Bengaluru

THE Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy is almost like a big audition before the IPL auction. Though collectively, teams aim for the domestic title, individually, there is so much more at stake for the players. Coming into the upcoming edition which starts on Thursday with 19 matches on Day 1 in different cities, it assumes even greater significance for two big reasons.

Firstly, an IPL mega auction is set to take place before the start of the 2022 season. With teams only allowed four retentions, there will be plenty of room to accommodate the in-form or the standout players of the domestic T20 competition. Secondly, two new teams have been added to the league, which means that at least 30 more Indian players will be part of the cash-rich league compared to the previous years.

An impressive individual outing might lead to franchises raising their paddles frequently at the IPL auction table, attracting a lucrative contract. With franchises understanding the importance of possessing quality Indian players, even a few good cameos or special spells could prove to be a game-changer.

"All the players will be looking forward to this tournament. I think this is a good platform for the players. If they perform well and catch the eye of the franchises here, it will be good for them. It will definitely act as a motivation for the players as well," said Tamil Nadu coach M Venkataramana, who added that his team is eager to retain the trophy.

But, it will be a big challenge for the players to bring their A-game consistently. With the domestic season having started on a later date due to Covid-19, the schedule is tight. More than 90 matches are going to be played over a course of six days in the group stages. It means that the teams in the Elite group have to play around five matches in six days, which makes it physically and mentally demanding, especially with a bio bubble in place.

For star performers of last season in the IPL like Ruturaj Gaikwad, Harshal Patel, Avesh Khan, a great show in the tournament might force their respective franchises to retain them. On the other hand, players like Manish Pandey, who was below par last season, will be eager to make a mark and the Karnataka captain is aware of the importance of the competition.

"Everybody is looking forward to the opportunities to make a mark and do something big for Karnataka. There are a lot of things to look forward to with the big IPL auctions coming up. Everybody will be looking forward to doing well here and getting noticed by the IPL teams," said Pandey.

However, Madhya Pradesh coach Chandrakant Pandit has a somewhat different opinion and feels players should think beyond the IPL. "Players should not be only thinking about the IPL auction. The goal should not be that short. Of course, the motivation does come as there is a lot of money in the IPL. They should utilise this tournament to get a good exposure and convert it into a good opportunity. It is not only restricted to the IPL, but also for the future," said Pandit.

Srikanth sails into 2nd round

PTI @ Saarbrucken (Germany)

TOP Indian shuttler Kidambi Srikanth sailed into the second round of men's singles with a comfortable straight game win over Japan's Koki Watanabe in the HYLO Open Super 500 tournament here on Wednesday.

Sixth seed Srikanth subdued Watanabe 21-15 21-10 in 32 minutes. However, HS Prannoy made a first round exit while compatriot Sourabh Verma advanced to the pre-quarterfinals after receiving a walkover in the tournament that was formerly known as SaarLorLux Open. Prannoy went down 21-16 17-21 7-21 to lower ranked Irish shuttler Nhat Nguyen in the men's singles match that lasted 57 minutes.

Verma, on the other hand, received a walkover in his first round match against Max Weisskirchen of Germany.

The reason for the German's withdrawal was not known.

Ronaldo rescues United yet again

Cristiano Ronaldo saved Manchester United from another loss while Barcelona notched up a crucial win. A look at a few matches from Tuesday's round of Champions League fixtures

CATALANS IMPROVING

Needing an away win — something Barcelona have struggled to do off late — to keep their slim chances of qualifying, the catalans edged Dynamo Kyiv 1-0 thanks a goal from Ansu Fati. The identity of the goalscorer is a reminder that for all the club's financial ills, there are some extremely talented youngsters at the club.

BAYERN CONTINUE RUN

While some of the bigger clubs have struggled in Europe, no such problems exist for the Bundesliga giants who continue to score goals at an unsustainable rate. They scored another five, thanks to another hat-trick from Robert Lewandowski. Their ceiling is so high they will now probably be disappointed if they don't do the double.

RED DEVILS STAY ALIVE

If it weren't for the Portuguese's goals, Ole Gunnar Solskjaer would surely have been sacked by now. He continued his streak of scoring in all Champions League this season, his injury-time equaliser ultimately helped the Manchester based club to a draw. They were again haphazard in possession, defensively bad and porous in midfield. How long can this go on?

17

No of goals Bayern have scored in Europe this season in just four games

8

Nobody has scored more Champions League goals this season than Lewandowski's eight

RESULTS

Group E: Dynamo Kyiv 0-1 Barcelona, Bayern Munich 5-2 Benfica.
Group F: Villarreal 2-0 Young Boys, Atalanta 2-2 Manchester United.
Group G: Sevilla 1-2 Lille, Wolfsburg 2-1.
Group H: Malmo 0-1 Chelsea, Juventus 4-2 Zenit Saint-Petersburg.

Bollywood quizzes, hi-teas and of course, playing cards...Deepavali dos in the city are back to what they were with Bengalureans ready to let their hair down

ANILA KURIAN

LOOKS like it's going to be a cracker of a Deepavali for Bengalureans who are ready to go any length this year to have a good time. House parties are particularly popular this time with friends and families coming together to share a hearty meal, conversations and play a couple of games.

Home chef Kusum Rohra is hosting an '80s and '90s Bollywood-themed party for her friends. The potluck party will see a melange of cuisines with each of the guests hailing from a different state. "It's been a tradition over the years that a group of 15 of us come together to celebrate Deepavali at home. Happening on Saturday, we're planning a Bollywood quiz, in addition to other interesting games. It's much needed after two years of the raging pandemic." Right now, Rohra is "studying" to put the quiz together. "It's definitely going to be fun," she says.

Deepavali is incomplete without card games. Teen Patti, rummy and bluff are the most popularly played during this time. And Rohra and friends will also be doing that too.

"We'll also be playing antakshari and showcasing our singing skills. Then, of course, there will also be the classic games that we will all eventually partake in," she adds.

Trying something different this year is fashion curator Ila Dorairaj Naidu whose Deepavali parties began on Wednesday. For the do with the theme 'Indian with a twist', Naidu did the different. "I wore my son's dhoti, a tank top, a chain armour along with my favourite Louis Vuitton shoes," she says. To make sure she didn't miss out on fun at the party, Naidu carried an extra pair of shoes which would allow her to hit the dance floor.

Ruchita Chandwani, Kusum Rohra and Aparna Rao

While most house parties tend to veer towards the evening, educator and NGO management consultant Somika Basu hosted a hi-tea for 15 of her friends.

"We, Bengalis, usually have a quiet and alcohol-free time during Deepavali as it's Kali puja. So a hi-tea seemed like a perfect fit," she says, adding that the eats, a fruit cake, Indian sweets, samosa, scotch eggs, cheese platters and so on, have been planned keeping in mind the dietary preferences of her guests.

While some spent quality time bonding over conversation and food, children were roped in to light diyas around the house. "The idea was about just having fun," Basu says.

Moving beyond music and dance, restaurants and cafes are now adding a twist to dining by introducing unique games

Games On The Plate

SANATH PRASAD

BOARD games, dart games, pool tables, puzzles... restaurants and cafes are trying to bring food and games to one table to help guests unwind and engage, beyond just the regular dance and music. Restaurants in the city are filling the social void created by the pandemic during which physical interaction was minimal. Most of these cafes offer finger foods, including kulfi kabab, noodles, spring rolls and pizza pockets.

Board 4 Bored, a cafe in Basavanagudi, has over 300 types of board games inspired by not just Indian culture but also the US and European cultures. Charging ₹200 per hour, a group of friends can play three board games at a time. The games include Splendor, Pandemic Iberia, Forbidden Island, Sherlock Holmes, Dixit, Azul, which involve skills and strategies and fall under categories like storytelling, building, navigating, deception, luck etc.

"We started the cafe in July 2020 and the idea was to keep people away from ther mobile phones. The pandemic has affected many of our social skills. We wanted to make people aware of traditional Indian board games and also those inspired by Western and European culture," says Rachna Rao, co-founders of the cafe.

While board games dominate the gaming space at cafes, here is a dart game that can keep your vision and aim in check. K-OS The GameBar in Koramangala offers dart games that allow you to play cricket, snakes and ladders, and ninja. "The idea is to help people open up and destress from the pandemic blues. We attract the startup crowd which plays the dart game as a team-building activity. It helps freshers break the ice and also understand team dynamics, as they eat, drink and have fun with the dart," says Aditi Rao, one of the founders of the bar.

Ludo on Cunningham Road, run by sisters Sarah Mouazzam, Sana Mouazzam and Sabah Mouzzam, is based on the popular board game, Ludo. Mouzzam says, "We witnessed a lot of people playing board games, especially ludo during the lockdown. Hence, we decided to start the cafe that will engage people in this game. We will be sticking ludo posters on the table and people can play as they eat."

Otto's, a restobar in Marathahalli, is introducing a pool table and board games for guests next month. According to Vineeth Nair, general manager of the bar, the pool table will be kept in a semi-indoor space and board games will be available at every table. He says, "People are looking for more than just music and dance. It's also important for us to involve people of all age-groups, and not just youngsters. The board games will be in line with that."

FIT BIT

HINDOLASANA
(BABY CRADLE POSE)

This is a seated hip-opener that also stretches the hamstrings and calf muscles. It may be considered a slight variation of pigeon pose and is sometimes also known as 'rock the baby pose'. Those with limited flexibility may sit on a rolled blanket to keep the back from rounding and/or use a yoga block under the lower knee. Baby cradle pose is a particularly good pose for those who work seated at a desk or who are otherwise inactivated for extended periods of time.

STEPS

- Sit in Dandasana with your legs extended. Press your hands to the floor to lengthen your spine.
- Bend your right leg and draw your knee to the side. Then, bring your hands under your foot, cradle your foot and lower shin.
- Turn your left leg in and extend out through your leg from the core of your pelvis. Lift the right leg up; bring it parallel to the floor and extend the toes.
- Keep your ankle square. Draw your lower back in and up. Press the thigh bone of your left leg into the floor. Hold your left foot in the elbow of your left hand.
- Wrap your right hand around the outside of your right knee and around your lower leg. Grab your left wrist with the right hand.
- Inhale, and move the right knee slightly away from your body. Exhale, and draw your shin and leg in toward your torso.
- Press the big toe of your right foot into your left forearm just above the elbow.
- Draw your lower back in and lift from the core of your pelvis through the crown of your head.
- Stay in this position for 30 to 60 seconds, then release and repeat the process on the other side.

BENEFITS

- Opens the pelvic region.
- Stretches the thighs, hamstrings, and calf muscles.
- Massages the abdominal muscles, improves digestion.
- Stimulates the reproductive and digestive systems.
- Helps stimulate the colon, liver, and kidneys.
- Calms the mind and soothes the nervous system.
- Helps develop mental focus.

LIMITATIONS

- Those who have injury in the hips, knees, lower back, or spine should avoid this.
- Those who have arthritis of the hips, knees, or spine should practise this seated on a cushion or even a chair and with complete guidance from a yoga expert.

Party hard but don't abandon your regular fitness routines as you indulge in celebrations

FESTIVE GUIDE TO FITNESS

DR SHEELA CHAKRAVARTHY

WHILE we are splurging on traditional delicacies and gifts, it can be tempting to neglect our diet and exercise routines. Even the most dedicated health enthusiasts may find it challenging to engage in physical activity due to shorter daylight hours, Zoom parties, intimate gatherings, and an abundance of goodies lying around the house.

We all deserve to take time off to unwind and indulge in our favourite treats during the holiday season, especially after the year we've had. However, it's important not to overindulge. All of these factors contribute to the accumulation of toxins, or impurities, in our bodies. Toxins accumulate throughout the body if left unchecked, clogging systems, channels, and ducts and weakening the immune and energy systems. We're especially vulnerable to AMA formation during the holidays because we tend to abandon our regular routines and diets.

Tips to prevent weight gain:

1 Drink plenty of water: It's a good idea to stay hydrated before and during the holiday season by drinking at least 10-12 glasses of water each day. It promotes healthy skin, lowers blood pressure, aids in the reduction of unsaturated fat in the body, and prevents dehydration and dryness.

2 Moderation is essential: While our intimate gatherings will be extra special this year, practice temperance to avoid causing a systemic shock. Limit your consumption of high-calorie beverages, mainly carbonated, packed drinks and alcohol, as these can cause dehydration and exhaustion.

3 Practice mindful eating: Pay attention to your body. Try to eat more wholesome, nutritious meals, including lean protein, a small amount of healthy fat, and fibre-rich carbohydrates. Always eat in smaller portions.

3 Pre-plan workouts: Although hectic, holidays are no excuse to stop working out. It is critical to burning off the consumed calories to keep our weight from skyrocketing. Maintain a fitness routine and exercise as often as possible. If short on time, go for a walk or take the stairs. Begin with simple exercises like jumping jacks, spot jogging, twisting, neck rotations, toe touches, and so on. Bodyweight exercises such as squats, lunges, etc. are also beneficial for shaping, toning, and strengthening. To get those toned abs, do exercises like planks, crunches, reverse crunches, etc. Don't let the holidays and festivities get in the way of your goals.

5 Cleanse your system: Start the day with a squeeze of lemon in a glass of lukewarm water with a teaspoon of honey to flush toxins from the body, cleanse your system, speed up fat burning and healthy glowing skin. Green tea is another antioxidant-rich beverage that aids in detoxification. Plenty of water or fresh fruit/vegetable juices also help.

6 Maintain a routine: Try sticking to a consistent eating schedule and mealtimes. Eat three times a day, roughly at the same time, to avoid disrupting and weakening digestion. For snacking, have something fresh and light like fruits. Also, try to adhere to a sleeping and waking schedule. This will maintain the balance of our nervous and immune systems.

If you're planning a family gathering, make sure everyone has had their Covid-19 immunisation and is wearing a mask, and routinely washing hands with soap. During the puja, remember to ventilate your home by opening all the windows.

To reduce the risk of airborne illnesses, let's stay away from crowded setups with close contact with other people. Deepavali is a festival that we all look forward to celebrating, and it should be no different for people who have asthma. A safe and enjoyable Deepavali can be achieved by taking the appropriate precautions to reduce triggers.

Most of the firecracker injuries are found to occur among youngsters, who indulge the most in bursting crackers, without following the safety norms

DOs & DON'Ts while bursting crackers

DO'S

- Burst crackers under the supervision of elders
- Go for the best quality crackers
- Wear protective footwear
- Use the long lighting wand for lighting crackers, so that distance is maintained
- Have adequate security measures nearby, like water, sand, and if possible, a fire extinguisher
- Return to a safe distance after lighting the crackers
- Wear cotton clothes while bursting crackers
- Contact the nearest eye specialist immediately—in case of emergencies

DON'TS

- Wear loose clothes
- Hold the crackers in your hand and light them
- Attempt to relight a cracker that was already lit
- Burst crackers near vehicles or any other inflammable articles

Keep your eyes safe this Deepavali

EXPRESS FEATURES

DEEPAVALI is a festival of lights. Let's not make it dark by sustaining injuries to the eye while bursting crackers. Almost 45 per cent of the ocular injuries in children occur at home, of which the cracker injuries constitute 10 per cent of them.

According to Dr Mohan Rajan, chairman & medical director, Rajan Eye Care Hospital, there has been an increased incidence of eye injuries due to crackers in the past few years, mainly because of the negligence of the parents and the failure to follow the protocols while bursting crackers. The injuries referred to their hospital range from minimal injuries like corneal abrasions, lid injuries to major ones like traumatic cataract, corneal tear, retinal detachment, vitreous haemorrhage and globe rupture.

Due to the pandemic, a fewer number of firecracker injuries were expected this year, but unfortunately, the hospital came across at least 10 cases in the past two days, ranging from minor corneal abrasions, superficial punctate erosions, and lid injuries to the major sight-threatening vitreous haemorrhage and optic nerve head avulsions. Some of these cases required surgical interventions as well.

Most of the firecracker injuries are found to occur among youngsters, who indulge the most in bursting crackers, without following safety norms. It is unfortunate that innocent pedestrians are also affected due to the negligence of such groups.

Ocular injuries in this age group result, not only in physical disability, but also affect the victims psychologically, leading to personality disorders.

A seven-year-old boy, who had sustained a cracker injury to both eyes involving face and brow, suffered corneal abrasions with coagulative membrane and soot particles covering the eye. This led to decreased vision in both his eyes. There was also charring of eyelashes and brow hair along with superficial burns in the skin surrounding the eye. This is just one example of what cracker injuries can do to your eye and its sight.

Experts say that the rocket injuries are the worst, since they rupture the eyeballs and are very difficult to salvage. Blast injuries could lead to superficial burns, wherein certain metallic parts could enter the eye and damage it. Despite sophisticated surgical techniques available to tackle such serious injuries, doctors can salvage vision only in a small percentage of the cases because of the severe damage caused.

Precaution is the best way to save sight and prevention is the most effective treatment for eye injuries.

Rejuvenating and hydrating dry skin

DR JUSHYA BHATIA SARIN

When it comes to skin and hair care, little can any product compete with the multi-tasking coconut-based products. While coconut-based hair and skin oil is known to have pre-grooming conditioning effects on hair, its varied components such as Vitamin E makes it an ideal agent with skin-care benefits.

From the earliest recorded times, plant-based oils have been used in skin-care. There is a renewed interest in coconut-based skin oil for care in recent times, both for restoring the environment of the skin-surface and in skin ailments. Coconut-based skin oil is a very able moisturiser, with head-to-head studies concluding it to be at par with, and in some cases superior to, mineral oil as an emollient.

Regular application of coconut-based skin oil has found to improve skin hydration and strengthens the barrier lipids in the skin.

Its small particle size allows for easy absorption in the skin, penetrating to the deeper layers easily to provide a thorough moisturising effect to the skin. By reducing water loss from the skin, coconut-based skin oil also helps moisturise the skin for longer. Environmental pollution, over-sanitising in the Covid times and the climatic changes, all of these have a drastic downside of drying out skin surface. Coconut-based skin oil is a simple, easily attainable and cost-effective product to tackle these side effects.

Interestingly, the absorption of coconut-based skin oil into the skin and subsequent breakdown into Monolaurin and Lauric acid, which are known antimicrobial agents, has been observed to improve skin-barrier function in low birthweight babies. The skin barrier function improvement leads to improved weight gain by better thermo-regulation. Thus, regular massaging with coconut-based skin oil will help fight infections in premature infants and help them keep safe.

Touted as an anti-bacterial agent, coconut-based skin oil reduces bacterial colonisation in people with extremely dry skin, prone to itching and rash. In cellular studies, coconut-based skin oil has also exhibited anti-viral, anti-bacterial and anti-fungal properties.

What adds to the glorious properties of coconut-based skin oil is its remarkable safety, low irritancy, non-toxic and non-sensitising nature

With the method of double-cleansing totally in trend, coconut-based skin oil has been used as the first step in removal of make-up or sunscreen before cleaning the face with a regular cleanser. It is especially gentle to eyes when removing eye-make up, hydrating the delicate area around the eye instead of stripping the natural oils like with make-up removers. Caution is advised while using coconut-based skin oil on face for acne-prone skin, since it is a comedogenic substance.

Coconut-based skin oil has properties that protect and repair your skin barrier. It is an easily available, economical, safe and effective moisturiser for the body skin.

SOULFUL

Finding calm in that chatter

I'm sure most of you will understand the importance of leisure, because it's only when you have leisure that you learn. The meaning of that word 'leisure', according to a very good dictionary, means not having any occupation, at the time when we are talking over together. Not to be occupied all the time, psychologically, physically or intellectually, just have plenty of leisure so that one can learn. That's really the meaning of a school, where one can learn easily, without conflict, when your mind is not occupied with so many other problems. So I suggest that you should not be occupied, that your minds should not filled with problems, anxieties, occupations, trying to solve problems. We are here to actually experience leisure, so that when we talk over things together, the mind is not occupied, not chattering, and is experiencing enough leisure to understand and learn.

There are two types of learning: either memorise what is being said, which is what most of us call learning, or learning through observation and therefore not storing it up as a memory and then looking, observing through memory. I'm going to explain it. As we said, there are two types of learning: one is to learn something by heart so that you store it up in the brain and act according to that knowledge, skilfully or not skilfully. That's what most of us do. When we go to school, college and university, we store a great deal of information called knowledge, and according to that knowledge act, beneficially for oneself or for society, skilfully or incapable of acting, simply, directly. That's one type of learning, with which we are all very familiar, which we do all the time. Every experience is stored as knowledge, and acted according to that... action taking place according to that knowledge. So that's very clear; I expect most of us, it is so. Then there is another kind of learning, which probably you're not quite accustomed to, because we are such slaves to habits, to tradition, to every form of conformity. There is the other type of learning, as we were saying, which is to observe. Observation implies, to see without the accompaniment of previous knowledge; to look at something as though for the first time, afresh. And if you observe things afresh, then there is not the cultivation of memory, because each time you observe, and through that observation you learn, store it up as memory, then the next time you observe you are observing through the pattern of memory, therefore you see never anything fresh. Right?

So, as we were saying, leisure is extraordinarily important – not to have a mind that is constantly occupied, constantly chattering. Because it's only in that unoccupied mind a new seed of learning can take place. Which is entirely different from the memory, cultivating memory, storing up as knowledge and acting from that knowledge. As we were saying, there is another kind of learning, which is to observe - the tree, the skies, the mountains, the beauty of the mountains, the light among the leaves. And that observation if stored up as memory will prevent the next observation being fresh. You get this point? It's quite simple. That is, if you observe your wife or your girlfriend or boyfriend, if you observe, can you observe without the previous recording of the incidents and all the rest of it, in that particular relationship. If you observe or watch the other without the previous knowledge, then you learn much more.

I FEEL CLOSE TO MY CHARACTER SATYA IN TOM & JERRY: CHAITHRA RAO

The actor speaks to CE ahead of the film's release on November 12

A SHARADHAA

DIRECTOR Raaghav Vinay Shivagange came up with a quirky title - Tom and Jerry - for his upcoming drama about friendship. However, more than the title, it was the role that made Chaithra Rao take up this film. The actor, who made her transition from the small screen to the silver screen with Mayabazar 2016, is now looking forward to the release of her second film.

Ahead of the film's release on November 12, she chats with CE about her role in Tom and Jerry.

"Satya is free-spirited and can't be boxed by the conventional boundaries of the society. Though she is a work of fiction, I want to be her - carefree. I felt close to myself playing her," says Chaithra, who adds that every youngster would want to be her in this age and time.

"This is not a typical film. Also, the female lead is not just a set property. She has something to tell the society, and that makes it different from the regular heroine roles," she says.

Tom and Jerry has been the talk of the town since the title was announced. The posters and the song Hayagide Yedeyolage, sung by Sid Sriram, have kept the anticipation growing for the film.

Tom and Jerry is about Satya and Dharma (played by Nischith), and according to Chaithra, both represent the characters of Tom and Jerry, who are poles opposite in terms of characters. "Dharma and Satya are the two faces of the same coin, but they can't live with each other," the actor reveals.

Chaithra says that director Raaghav Vinay gave her the confidence to take up the film. "I was approached for this project at a time when I was receiving calls about bogus film offers. I thought this film offer was one such fake call, and I decided not to encourage it. However, director Vinay did not give up. He made the right kind of approach and believed that I can pull off this role. Working with Nischith was like being with a friend," says Chaithra.

Taking the advice of the director, Chaithra has not signed up for any films and is waiting for the release of Tom and Jerry.

'Wish there were talent agencies when I started out'

SHILAJIT MITRA

ONE of my favourite meta movies of all time is Vinod Chopra's Khamosh. Made in 1985, it was a thriller with a Twin Peaks-y edge, bolstered by an all-star cast. Shabana Azmi and Amol Palekar played murder suspects. Naseeruddin Shah deadpanned as an inept cop. And, amid it all, was Soni Razdan, haunting the film as its own Laura Palmer.

36 years later, Soni turns up in another industry-set romp. Call My Agent: Bollywood doesn't bear comparison with Khamosh; it isn't halfway as funny or self-aware. Still, Soni saw it as an opportunity to revive a lost genre.

"The culture of glorifying actors is changing," she says. "What's fascinating about a film like Khamosh back then, or a series like Call My Agent now, is that you are seeing the people behind the so-called stars. You are seeing them have the same problems, like going to work with a baby. So it instantly creates a connection."

Adapted from a French series, this is a show about four talent agents trying to save their company, after their boss checks out on a foreign trip. Soni plays Treasa Mathews, a veteran who prefers to go by 'star maker'. It's an intriguing role, but also awfully limited and sidelined. It is especially disheartening given Soni's casting—the actor, a veteran herself, has seen the talent management industry emerge and evolve. "It's a different industry now," she reflects. "It's completely corporatized, organized. There were no management companies or casting agencies when I joined the industry. I was always upset about that. I felt I could have done so much more if there were people pushing me for stuff."

This, Soni says, changed when her daughter Alia joined the movies. "Instantly, there was a talent management company she signed up with. They took care of everything. I was like, wow, that's so cool!"Representing this new age in the series is Aahana Kumra's Amal. A compulsive hothead, she rounds on stars during meetings and takes her own co-workers to task. Her extended romantic track with an auditor (Anuschka Sawhney) is the second loudest thing in the series—first comes her anger issues.

Aahana feels this is an attitude attuned to the cut-throat nature of the industry. "The film world is extremely dynamic," she says. "There's no time to sit and mull over things. If you don't act fast, a role or a project would go to someone else."

"She is nicknamed Hulk," jokes Ayush Mehra, who plays Mehershaad.

As the conversation winds down, I ask the cast how weird it was to turn the tables. Surely, as actors, they've had to change their agents?

"It's never to put anybody down," Ayush maintains. "We opt with an agency because we want to get to a certain place in our careers. If that doesn't happen, we change tracks. It's all about finding somebody who understands your vision."

Call My Agent: Bollywood is streaming on Netflix.

ANUBHAV Sinha is producing an upcoming film to be directed by Sudhir Mishra. The film, a relationship drama, will be mounted on a huge scale. It will have talents from all over the world and is touted as the biggest Indo-American project post the pandemic.

Sudhir and Anubhav have been friends for years. They were earlier rumoured to collaborate on a quirky thriller together.

On backing Sudhir's next venture, Anubhav said, "As a producer, my hunt is always to find fresh ideas that push the envelope. Sudhir bhai brings to each piece of cinema his distinct voice that makes the film so unique. I am extremely keen to start the project and we (will) soon get into pre-production."

Sudhir Mishra added, "Sinha is one of the coolest producers Bollywood has. I thought being his friend, I should exploit some of that opportunity I have at my disposal (laughs). We have a good story at hand. We are able to see that this is a novel idea and if told right, the film will get cinephiles from across the globe discussing it. I can't wait to start the film."
